£1.3k BILL OVER ATTACK ON DOG

BY JORDAN HARRIS

A WOMAN who 'did nothing' as her greyhound mauled a pet Chihuahua in front of its owner and her young daughter has been hit with a £1,300 court bill.

Keri Birch had been taking shopping from her car into her home in Station Street, Cheslyn Hay, when Hayley Owen began arguing with her, claiming that her car was blocking the pavement.

During the confrontation, Owen's black greyhound, called Harry, 'scooped up' Lou Lou the Chihuahua and ran off with it in its mouth.

The dog had belonged to Ms Birch's mother, who had died a week before the incident on August 11, 2015.

Owen, charged with being in charge of a dog that was dangerously out of control causing injury, appeared before Cannock Magistrates, where she was found guilty.

Bally Paul, prosecuting, said: "The attack left Lou Lou with a puncture wound, severe bruising and muscle damage.

"After the greyhound scooped up the smaller dog, its owner offered no assistance.

"Ms Birch's young daughter and niece were with her at the time and began screaming."

Horrific

The court was told that Owen, of Forge Close, Churchbridge, 'did nothing' to stop her dog and continued arguing while it caused significant injury to the Chihuahuua.

Giving evidence in court, Ms Birch spoke of her terror at the time and how the aftermath had affected her and her family.

While the attack was being carried out, neighbours tried to get the Chihuahua from the jaws of the greyhound by stamping on its paws and hitting its head so its jaw would loosen. When it finally released the pet, Ms Birch said, she thought it was dead.

She said: "It was the most horrific day I have ever had. All I could think of was that this is my mother's dog, I had just buried her. My daughter was watching, absolutely terrified and I am concerned of the impact it will have on her seeing this. I just couldn't believe that the owner wasn't doing anything to help. I didn't want to argue. I just wanted to save my dog."

Vets' bills for Lou Lou, who has made a full recovery, came to more than £500. Owen was fined £120 and ordered to pay £528 compensation, £635 costs, and a £20 victim surcharge.

Representing herself in court, she said: "I felt as though all of the neighbours who came out were just shouting and swearing and making things worse. The way I saw it, the louder the noise got, the tighter Harry's grip got. I didn't want to add to that."

Owen was also ordered to muzzle the dog at all times when taking it out.

NOW IT'S POKÉMON STOP OVER NUISANCE AT STATION

The Pokémon Go craze has been causing chaos around Cannock railway station, where people have been seen trying to catch Pokemon at 3am

GAMERS have been told to Pokémon Go away from Cannock railway station after neighbours complained of anti-social behaviour in the middle of the night.

The station has been attracting players of the popular mobile phone game after being designated as a PokeStop, enabling gamers to collect Poke Balls for use in the game.

Staffordshire Police say that this has lead to 'increased activity' on the site, with the force receiving complaints relating to loud music, noise issues and groups gathering until around 3am. Letters have been handed out to those found playing the game at the station, warning that the force is intending to increase patrols and potentially fine gamers up to £2,500 if problems persist.

The letter, written by Sgt Carolyn Higgins, reads: "Our recommendation is that noise should be kept down to an absolute minimum, to refrain from attending the site past 10pm and avoid gathering in large numbers. Ideally, people will attend the site for limited periods of time at sociable hours, remain in their vehicles and leave without causing issue.

"The area will now be patrolled on a regular basis combined with CCTV monitoring in the locality with a view to identifying persistent offenders causing anti-social behaviour."

"Staffordshire Police will be positive in their approach towards identified perpetrators of anti-social behaviour who could potentially face prosecution and fines of up to £2,500," she added.

● Pokémon hunters and litter pickers joined together in Hednesford for a 'litter safari'. The event saw players of Pokémon Go team up with residents to clear the area up while having fun.

AGREEMENT

'Swift eviction' vow on traveller camps

A NEW protocol for dealing with travellers in Cannock Chase has been agreed, with council bosses claiming it will 'ensure the swift eviction' of encampments.

Cannock Chase Council has worked with Staffordshire Police and Staffordshire County Council so action can be taken to remove traveller and gipsy camps in the district as soon as legally possible.

George Adamson, leader of the district council, said: "The council has had 10 unauthorised encampments on council land over the past five years. This protocol will ensure the swift eviction of travellers and gipsy encampments in the future."

Equipment is seized from noisy neighbour

A NOISY tenant in Rugeley who were driving neighbours mad with blaring TVs and music have had their equipment seized.

Cannock Chase Council said that after following up a number of complaints, it decided that the noise was deemed excessive.

Warnings were given to the resident, who has not been named, in January but the noise persisted and residents continued to complain. Further investigations found the noise level was still too excessive and police and council officers agreed it was an example of 'statutory nuisance'.

The authority obtained a warrant from Cannock magistrates to enter the property and took two flat-screen televisions, a music centre, DVD player, Virgin Media box, an Xbox, several loudspeakers and a sound bar. The equipment will be held by the council for at least 28 days and could be destroyed if the alleged offender is convicted of causing a nuisance.

The authority said taking what it described as a 'short, sharp shock' approach had brought similar offenders around the country 'to their senses'.

Complaints

Cannock Chase Council's environment cabinet member Councillor John Preece said: "Most people show consideration to their neighbours with regard to any noise they make. However, there are some individuals who don't show such consideration and, whilst the officers will try to persuade them to behave more responsibly, if they don't, the council has a range of legal powers at its disposal.

"In this case, officers obtained a magistrates court warrant to seize the equipment being used to make the noise. I would assure residents suffering with noisy neighbours that Cannock Chase Council takes noise complaints seriously."

He said it was the second time this year similar investigations had resulted in equipment being seized.

A council spokeswoman said residents should be mindful of neighbours when listening to loud music or engaging in activities which could disrupt people.

The council also has at least one other application going through magistrates courts to be heard over the next month.

Pensioner killed while walking dog

Police investigate the scene of a collision where a pensioner was killed and her daughter was left fighting for her life

A PENSIONER died after being hit by a car while walking her dog on a country road in Great Wyrley.

Her daughter, 59, was this week in a critical condition following the incident which happened in Jones Lane near Jacob's Hall Lane at 8.25am on Saturday.

A black Ford Focus collided with the two women and a dog, according to Staffordshire Police.

The mother, 79, and daughter, one of whom was in a wheelchair, were treated at the scene by West Midlands Ambulance Service. They were airlifted to the Royal Stoke University Hospital.

The older woman later died as a result of the injuries.

The 31-year-old motorist from Cannock was uninjured, and the dog was treated by a vet and is believed to have survived. Jones Lane was shut for four hours while officers examined the scene to help identify the cause of the collision.

A spokesman for Staffordshire Police said: "Two females, one of whom was in a wheelchair, were out walking a dog when they were in collision with a Ford Focus.

"The females, a mother and her daughter who are both from the Great Wyrley area, were treated at the scene and airlifted to hospital.

"The road remained closed for four hours whilst officers from the examined the scene."

Witnesses are asked to call Staffordshire Police on 101 or 01785 234094 quoting reference 209 of 30/07/16.

Region sees sharp rise in violence in two years

THE number of violent offences in Staffordshire and the West Midlands has soared in the past two years, the UK's latest crime statistics have revealed.

In the West Midlands, nearly 4,000 more violence-with-injury crimes were committed in the year ending March 2016 compared with the year ending March 2014.

In the same category, 9,000 more offences were committed in the region in the year ending March 2016, compared with the year ending March 2015.

Overall crime has risen by five per cent compared with last year for the West Midlands. In Staffordshire, overall crime had risen by 12 per cent compared with last year.

In almost identical figures to their West Midlands counterparts, Staffordshire Police also noted a 52 per cent rise in violence-without-injury cases, and a 17 per cent rise compared with 18 per cent in the West Midlands for violence with injury. However, Staffordshire noted decreases in a variety of crimes where West Midlands either reported an increase or no change.

Across Staffordshire, burglary dropped by seven per cent in the past year, bicycle theft by 12 per cent and vehicle offences by three per cent.

In figures rounded up by the Office for National Statistics, West Midlands Police reported a zero per cent change in all three of those offences.

Meanwhile, substantial rises in both force areas were noted for sex crimes and cyber crimes.

Monitoring of police relaxed

HER Majesty's Inspectorate of Constabulary (HMIC) has relaxed its monitoring of Staffordshire Police following 'significant improvement' in the force's support for vulnerable victims.

HMIC carried out a Police, Effectiveness, Efficiency and Legitimacy inspection last year and ruled that for 'Effectiveness' the force 'Required Improvement'. Within that the police watchdog delivered a damning rating of 'Inadequate' in relation to how the force protected people vulnerable from harm.

An action plan was drawn up and the HMIC have recently published another report after a follow-up visit in April which concluded Staffordshire Police had made substantial leaps. As a direct result inspectors have now changed the level of scrutiny the force will be under.

Williamson dragged into row on honours

SOUTH Staffordshire MP Gavin Williamson is set to receive a CBE in an honours list described as a 'roll of despair' and 'perverse' by one senior Conservative politician.

The Government's Chief Whip is among 48 names suggested for honours in the leaked list, which also includes former Cannock miner Patrick McLoughlin and is one of David Cameron's final acts as Prime Minister.

But the list, which features several senior figures who backed the failed Remain campaign in the EU referendum, has provoked outrage from Tories on the Leave side.

Theresa May said she would not intervene over the list, paving the way for the honours to be awarded.

Labour MPs have accused Mr Cameron of rewarding his old pals.

Mr Williamson served as Mr Cameron's parliamentary private secretary for three years before marshalling Theresa May's rise to Number 10. He declined to comment.

Tory party chairman Mr McLoughlin, who was born in Stafford and was Chief Whip and then Transport Secretary under Mr Cameron, has been put forward for a knighthood.

Staunch Eurosceptic Sir Bill Cash, the MP for Stone, said: "I would describe it as a roll of despair. The fact is that he [Mr Cameron] is going out of his way to provide honours to people who got is so completely wrong. The British people gave a clear verdict in the EU referendum and for them to see those on the losing side being rewarded for failure seems perverse."

'Hidden dangers' warning on lakes

STAFFORDSHIRE firefighters are urging people not to swim in unsupervised lakes and pools.

Statistics from the National Water Safety Forum show that drowning is still the third most common cause of death in children in the UK.

Staffordshire Fire & Rescue Service's head of risk reduction Jim Bywater said: "While the thought of cooling off in the water may seem tempting, it carries substantial risks, particularly in lakes or pools that are unsupervised. The consequences can be life-threatening if things go wrong.

"There are often hidden dangers that can't be seen on the surface, such as strong undercurrents and undergrowth." Visit theservice's website at www.staffordshirefire.gov.uk/166

Bus services put at risk as depot to shut

STAFFORD bus depot is to close with the loss of several routes.

Bus company Arriva has spoken to the Unite union and workers about removing some routes for the town and relocating other services to Cannock, leading to the closure of the Stafford base in Dorrington Drive.

Arriva says it is looking at the changes 'following a difficult period which has seen some funding cuts and a drop in passenger numbers'.

A consultation period has now begun. Arriva has not said which routes would be lost under the plans. The Stafford site employs 50 people but it is not known how many of these jobs will be affected when the closure comes to fruition.

Unite says Arriva will be offering redeployment across the West Midlands and voluntary redundancy packages – meaning there will be no compulsory redundancies.

Matt Jones, a regional officer for the union, said: "We are disappointed at the Arriva proposals to close the Stafford station and relocate the bus routes to the Cannock depot. Unite will be responding to the company's consultation document which closes on September 3.

Imposed

"Our first priority is to ensure that there are no compulsory redundancies amongst the 50-strong workforce. The company is offering redeployment across the West Midlands and voluntary redundancy packages.

"We will be working closely with local management to minimise any job losses."

"The proposed closure has been brought about by the cuts imposed by Staffordshire County Council which funded unprofitable rural routes that are a lifeline for those without cars, the elderly and the vulnerable."

Rob Cheveaux, area managing director for Arriva, said: "Arriva is currently looking to undertake a restructure of our business across the West Midlands. We have a proposal in place for our operations at our Stafford facilities.

"As an out-station of our Cannock depot, Stafford currently operates 17 vehicles across nine routes, employing a maximum of 50 personnel. The proposal being considered is to withdraw from some of the less utilised routes, and relocate the operation of others to our facilities in Cannock."

Mark Deaville, cabinet member for transport and highways at the county council, said: "We will work with both Arriva and other bus operators to explore if there are any opportunities for other operators to expand their networks."

Special stalls attract crowds

Councillor Diane Todd with red roses supplied by Centre Flowers – 'I was delighted to see so many people in the town centre'

A SPECIAL Home and Garden Fair held in Cannock has been hailed as a welcome addition to the town's shopping scene.

Scores of shoppers browsed the 10 additional stalls at the market, which runs every Friday in the town centre.

The extra stalls included Charles Taylor Garden Furniture, selling wooden crafted garden furniture, and Art Box Ltd, a new start-up business specialising in cushions and prints.

Regular stallholders included Ben's Pickles, who won trader of the year at the recent market relaunch event, and Centre Flowers, who have been trading in Cannock for more than 20 years.

Councillor Diane Todd, portfolio leader for town centre regeneration at Cannock Chase Council, said: "I was delighted to see so many people in the town centre.

"The street market in Cannock is going from strength to strength and has not only increased the footfall in the town centre, but has brought vibrancy and buzz around the town every Friday."

THE BEST OF PETER RHODES

THERE was a time when old folk would jovially tell you that the great thing about being grandparents, rather than parents, was that "you can hand the kids back at the end of the day." Having observed a number of frazzled sixtysomethings in charge of under-10s in the school holidays, I bet some of them would be happy to pick the little blighters up at 8am and hand them back at 9am.

"TOOK ages to find your house, mate. Went the wrong way up the bypass, had to stop and ask the way three times. Miserable weather, innit? Who d'you fancy for the Cup, then? Went fishing yesterday down the canal, caught a nice roach. Just sign here for your package, pal." Amazon says its parcels may soon be delivered by drones.

TWENTY years ago, at the height of the BSE scare, the United States stopped importing British beef and lamb, to protect its people from mad-cow disease. It was announced this week that imports will resume next January. Here's the question. Over the past 20 years spent avoiding British meat, have the Americans become less mad or more mad?

HORRIBLE Hillary. Terrible Trump. How can it be that the popular vote to select Democrat and Republican US presidential candidates has produced two of the most unpopular people in the entire country?

NICK Clegg's wife, the dazzlingly exotic Miriam Gonzalez Durantez, seems surprised to have been served Hellmann's mayonnaise at a Downing Street function. I sympathise, chuck. You really can't beat Tesco Salad Cream, can you?

I AM not sure whether you can judge much in the first month after a referendum. Things may yet go belly-up. But so far the sky has not fallen in, the FTSE index is doing well, the pound has stabilised at a lower level and there is news of investment in Britain in everything from medical research to fast food and housebuilding. There is talk of free-trade agreements with Canada, Australia, China and India, and even warnings of a sudden spike in immigration as EU citizens rush to the honeypot and powerhouse that Brexit Britain may become.

A SYRIAN refugee family resettled on the Scottish island of Bute are deeply unhappy, claiming the place is full of old people who go there to die. I wonder if they die of the cooking? Bute is forever stuck in my mind as the place where, many years ago, I had the worst meal of my life. It was advertised on the menu as "mince". I assumed it would be served in a tasty, spicy sauce. Not a chance. It was a sloppy dollop of grey minced beef, boiled to extinction in salty water and served with a scowl.

Actors get a taste of life in trenches

THE cast of Lichfield Garrick's community musical, The Hired Man, visited Staffordshire Regiment Museum to experience what trench life was like during the Great War.

They got into the spirit by being given a full guided museum tour of the trenches.

Matthew Bishop, aged 15, from Burntwood, who plays Alec in the show, said: "I perform as a solider in The Hired Man. I'm glad I was able to visit the trenches as it has shown me what life was like for the men.

"Children as young as eight were sent to the frontline, and it must have been an incredibly scary experience for them."

Heather Grace Gallagher from Burton, who plays a farmer's wife, said: "It's sometimes difficult to comprehend the sheer scale of the impact of war on those on the front line as well as those left behind."

The Hired Man is set against the backdrop of the First World War and the impact the war has on a farming community in Cumbria.

A number of the cast perform as soldiers during the show as they are recruited to join the fight on the frontline. The production follows the timeless story of a young married couple and their struggle to carve a living from the land, just as the traditional rhythms of country life are swept away by the gathering storm of war in Europe.

The Hired Man runs on the theatre's main stage until Saturday, August 6. Tickets are from £10 to £15 and can be booked online at www.lichfieldgarrick.com or by calling the box office on 01543 412121.

'Struggling' school now showing improvement

By Carl Jackson

A CANNOCK school which has been struggling for eight years is finally on its way to becoming a 'good' performing establishment.

Ofsted has declared that Moorhill Primary is taking 'effective' action towards making improvements outlined by the education watchdog following an inspection earlier this year.

The Pye Green Road school, which caters for 390 youngsters, was given the lowest rating of 'inadequate' in 2008.

Since then it has had four full inspections but never hauled itself above a level three rating of 'satisfactory' in 2009 and 2011 under the old Ofsted system, and 'requires improvement' in 2013 and January this year under the new ratings.

Following the January visit, inspectors said: "Pupils' progress in English and mathematics is not consistently good in key stage two.

Effective

"Pupils do not have sufficient opportunities to further develop their skills in writing at length and across different subjects." The watchdog also criticised governors for not being thorough enough.

But following that assessment, Ofsted carried out a 'monitoring inspection' in June and has now reported back on its latest findings.

In a letter to the headteacher, inspector Charalambos Loizou said: "You and the deputy headteacher, together with the governing body, have devised effective plans to sustain improvement.

"Most parents I spoke to are positive about the school and their children's progress. The school improvement plan identifies the right priorities to improve pupils' achievement and teaching. Leaders' evaluations of the impact of their actions to raise standards are accurate.

"There are now more rigorous checks on the quality of teaching, pupils' work and progress. There is now greater clarity and direction for the school's improvement."

Course leads towards good citizenship

The class champions with Sam Whitmore and Ashley Hodgkins, from the West Bromwich Albion Foundation

PUPILS in Cannock developed their leadership skills through sport after taking part in the Albion Ambassadors Programme.

The course was delivered over a six-week period to Year 5 pupils from Redhill Primary School, in Wrights Avenue, Chadsmoor.

Organised by Sam Whitmore and Ashley Hodgkins from the West Bromwich Albion Foundation, the course centred on teaching the children how to be better citizens, how to be leaders in their own community by organising games and activities and being mediators for younger children and develop their sporting skills and knowledge. Sessions consisted of an ice-breaker activity followed by a classroom session focussing on good and bad leaders, communication, teamwork, organising and planning, compromise and confidence.

Under the guidance of the leaders, the children used the skills they had learned by planning and organising games and activities.

At the end of the six weeks all successful pupils were rewarded with a football, baseball cap and T-shirt. Several were singled out for their excellence in certain areas and awarded class champion awards for this.

Teacher Paul Mobberley said: "The course was extremely well-organised and popular and has certainly had an impact in ensuring that the young people will move to the next stage of their life with many of the skills they need to be good citizens."

Hundreds fewer are declared bankrupt

MORE than 1,000 fewer people were declared bankrupt in the West Midlands last year compared to five years before, new figures have revealed.

Across the Black Country, Cannock, Stafford and Wyre Forest a total of 1,592 became bankrupt in 2010.

Figures from The Insolvency Service show that last year 372 were made bankrupt.

Topping the region last year was Sandwell, where 82 people became bankrupt – 34 people per 100,000 of the borough's population. In Walsall, 74 were made bankrupt, representing 35 out of 100,000, in Dudley 69, equivalent to 28 out of 100,00, in Wolverhampton 47, or 24 out of 100,000.

Meanwhile, in Cannock, 21 were made bankrupt (27 per 100,000), in Wyre Forest 39 (49 out of 100,000) and in Stafford 40 (37 out of 100,000).

The Insolvency Service said insolvency rates generally have been on a downward path in recent years across the nation, with low interest rates helping to keep the cost of people's borrowing down. It added that the decrease in insolvency rates had fallen more sharply for men than it had for women over the last six years.

Historically, men were consistently more likely to go insolvent than women, but the gap narrowed from 2009 - the same year that Debt Relief Orders were introduced.

Across England and Wales, the research found that many seaside towns were particularly likely to have high insolvency rates compared with the country as a whole.

Everyone gets app-y in loyalty initiative

CANNOCK Chase Council's cabinet has approved the launch of a loyalty website and discount app in the district.

Residents in Cannock Chase will soon be able to download the free Good Life Deals app and start taking advantage of offers and deals from a wide range of local businesses.

The aim of the initiative is to support local businesses by encouraging people to buy local, accessing information on deals through the app and website.

The Good Life app was launched by South Staffordshire Council in December 2015 and Cannock Council will join this already successful initiative.

Councillor Diane Todd, portfolio leader for town centre regeneration on Cannock Chase Council, said: "People are increasingly shopping online, and websites that give discounts and special offers are very popular.

"The app and website will not only benefit residents and tourists visiting the district but will also be of great benefit to local businesses that currently trade with the public. It really is a great way to save money, support local business, and earn cashback from your online purchases.

"Businesses can sign up for a free three-month trial by contacting the economic development team on 01543 464272."

The free app will be available to download on both Android and Apple smartphones and tablets and will be accompanied by a website.

Freda's collar is a popular exhibit

A DOG collar from Staffordshire is a star exhibit at the National Army Museum in Waiouru on New Zealand's north island.

Staff are inviting families to drop in during the school holidays to see the collar, which belonged to Freda, a harlequin Great Dane which was a mascot of the New Zealand Rifle Brigade when they were stationed at Cannock Chase during the First World War.

She was gifted as a puppy to one of their number, Captain Ashby, by a local family and soon adopted as a talisman for the 5th New Zealand Rifle Battalion, sharing her mascot duties with the cook house cat Snooks.

Freda is buried on Cannock Chase, complete with her own headstone, which is a feature of tours of the area.

Burglars flee as alarm activated

Hotel plan unveiled for Spread Eagle pub

The Spread Eagle Pub at Gailey

A 38-BEDROOM hotel could be built next to a busy Staffordshire pub and restaurant, under new plans.

Pub company Marston's has lodged an application with South Staffordshire Council that would see part of the site of the Spread Eagle at Watling Street, Gailey, become home to 'lodge-style' accommodation.

The hotel would be built to the side of the Spread Eagle, which would still be in use and is also operated by Marston's. The entrance would remain the same, but car parking spaces would be cut to 108 from 135. The move has been welcomed by South Staffordshire MP Gavin Williamson and councillors, who say it would be a huge boost for the area.

Mr Williamson said the development should be given the go-ahead by the planning committee, providing it would be of the 'highest quality'.

South Staffordshire councillor John Raven said: "It was a slight concern to see that the number of parking spaces will decrease when there will be more people there. However, a development like this is no doubt a good thing for the area and should be welcomed."

Developers have pointed to a potential tourism opportunity for South Staffordshire as one of the reasons why the council should grant the application, which also says the site would create jobs, in addition to the 62 already provided by the pub.

The planning application reads: "The nature of the proposal is such that it will operate in synergy with the existing public house."

Marston's spokeswoman Lauren Smith said: "The proposed lodge would satisfy a demand for more quality accommodation in the area."

Husband's reburial next to wife agreed

A HUSBAND'S ashes will be moved to his wife's grave 16 years after his death following a rare legal decision.

The remains of Ronald James, which are buried in St Peter's Church, in Church Hill, Hednesford, can be exhumed and moved to the grave of his widow Margaret, who died earlier this year and is buried in the same churchyard.

The decision means that the long-standing Church of England philosophy that a last resting place should be just that, and that human remains buried in consecrated ground should stay put unless there are exceptional circumstances, have been over-ridden.

The application to the Church of England's consistory court was made by the couple's son Nigel and was backed by his family, Hednesford's Rev Paul Kelly and the Parochial Church Council. Chancellor of the Diocese of Lichfield Judge Stephen Eyre QC agreed to the request on the basis that Mrs James had made clear that when she died she wanted her husband's ashes to be moved to her grave.

Letter

However, he said that she did 'not realise and had not been told that there might be any difficulty in such a transfer'.

After reading a letter to her son in which she had written 'your Dad's ashes to be transferred to my grave at St Peters Church' he said it was a document which was 'clearly the result of careful and prayerful reflection and it demonstrates a firm faith'.

He added: "The document demonstrates that at some point before her death Mrs James was expressing the twin desire for burial for herself and the moving of her husband's remains to her grave."

He said there was a 'presumption of permanence of Christian burial' which flowed from the theological understanding that burial was seen as the act of committing the dead person's remains into the hands of God.

It was only in exceptional circumstances that exhumation would be approved. But in this case he said he was satisfied that at the time Mr James's ashes were buried his wife did not realise there could be problems in moving them later. That should have been explained to her, he said. However, he considered the circumstances were sufficiently exceptional to make it appropriate for him to approve exhumation.

Homemade warning sign pays off

This driver clearly spotted the homemade sign, taking evasive action to avoid the pothole

A POTHOLE in Great Wyrley has been filled in after a homemade sign appeared warning motorists of the danger.

The notice was produced by a Mr Martin, who did not want to give his full name, from a discarded temporary street sign.

He affixed white card onto it and painted 'pothole' onto it to alert drivers to the pothole at the Station Road roundabout junction with Olde Hall Lane near Great Wyrley High School. Mr Martin said at the time: "I reported the serious road defect by way of an online reporting facility provided by South Staffs Council.

"There are already four other active reports for this location.

"Neighbours have also reported to the council and spoke to representatives informing them of the danger," he added.

After reporting the pothole, he said, it was filled in on Tuesday morning last week. Mark Deaville, Staffordshire County Council's highways and transport leader, said: "We know that potholes are a concern to people, and our highways crews make every effort to fix them as soon as possible.

"All reported defects are inspected as soon as possible. Any defect which poses an immediate risk is dealt with as a priority, and we aim to repair dangerous potholes within seven days."

IN MY VIEW
with Mark Andrews

Never mind EU vote, I want VHS to remain

IT'S funny how the most important things are often overshadowed by events. While the past few weeks have seen wall-to-wall coverage of Britain's vote to leave the EU, the change of prime minister, virtual civil war in the Labour Party, and a new England manager, the demise of the video cassette recorder seems to have been forgotten.

While the precise details seem to be hidden under a veil of secrecy, it seems that the last VHS video rolled off a production line in China sometime last week.

To be honest, I thought they had gone out of production years ago, but apparently they were still selling reasonably well in the United States.

Presumably to farm hands in the Deep South who worry that Donald Trump might be a bit of a trendy liberal.

But while it's easy to scoff, aren't the Alabama ranch hands the ones who have got it right?

After all, what is the advantage of the DVD recorder or the digital memory box over the good old VHS?

Both record television programmes, both play them back. The only beneficiaries are the people who make money selling the new tech.

For this reason, I've still got a video recorder, although using it in the digital TV age does present its challenges. Five years after the big switchover, I still haven't properly mastered how to record TV programmes through a Freeview box. On the plus side, there hasn't been anything on TV over that time that I've actually wanted to record.

❐❐❐

FOR many years, there was one thing visitors passing through the pretty Herefordshire village of Leintwardine had no excuse for doing. Speeding.

With clear signs pointing out the 30 limit at regular intervals, there was never any doubt about how fast you could go.

At least there wasn't until last month, when the local council removed the signs following police complaints they did not comply with regulations. Apparently, repeater signs highlighting the speed limit are not allowed where there is a system of street lights, meaning anybody clocked for speeding could get off on a technicality.

Pedants will take great pleasure in pointing out that lit streets have a default 30mph limit unless otherwise stated. But road safety isn't supposed to be a board game with bonus points for catching people out.

I'm not sure who comes out of this the worst: the clowns who drew the bizarre rules up in the first place, the too-clever-by-half lawyers who exploited the loophole, or the police who seem more concerned with making their fines stick than slowing down the traffic.

One thing I am sure of though; none of them have made our roads safer.

Cowards slur against regiment laid to rest

A new book recalls how a regiment's bravery at the Battle of the Somme was questioned. MARION BRENNAN reports

IT is the most damning slur that could be attributed to any regiment – that they were cowards.

But it is an accusation that was made against the South Staffordshires following the carnage of the first day of the Battle of the Somme 100 years ago.

A new book on the battle recalls the little-known story of the alleged blemish on the reputation of the regiment, who were accused of 'having failed to close with the enemy'.

On July 1, 1916, after soldiers from the North and South Staffordshire regiments had been cut down while attempting to break through the German frontline west of the Somme village of Gommecourt, a British intelligence officer filed a report which described the scene.

It read: "After the attack was abandoned, I examined the scene from the branches of a tall tree on the outskirts of Fonquevillers (west of Gommecourt), and could see the dead and wounded like a high water mark close to the German wire."

This was proof that the Staffordshire regiments' soldiers had not stayed in their trenches but had been stopped in their tracks by the failure of the British artillery to cut the German barbed wire.

Yet despite this evidence, allegations were made by one of Britain's top generals that the failure of the attack spearheaded by the Staffordshire regiments had been because of 'a lack of offensive spirit', or, putting it more bluntly, cowardice.

In an attempt to find those responsible, General Edmund Allenby, commander of the 3rd Army, ordered Lieutenant General Thomas Snow, commander of the V11th Corps, which included the 46th Division, to convene a court of inquiry. One of the questions was why the division's 137th Brigade had failed to 'close with the enemy'. The allegation appeared to be particularly aimed at the men from the South Staffordshire Regiment.

Captain Howard Vivian Mander, centre, with colleagues in trenches at the Somme

It had been involved with two attacks that day. No evidence presented at the inquiry suggested that its men in the 1st/6th South Staffordshire Regiment had failed to advance over the top at zero hour, 7.30am, when the whistles blew.

Soldier after soldier described how they had advanced as ordered, and hadeither been held up by the uncut wire, or had been scythed down by German gunswhile attempting to pass through the few gaps in the wire that had been created by British shelling. A few men even described how they had reached the German frontline and had thrown grenades at the enemy before being forced back.

The battalion suffered more than 230 casualties, representing almost 50 per cent of those who had attacked. When it came to the follow-up attack – scheduled for 3.30pm – nothing happened. In spite of being ordered to attack, the 1st/5th South Staffordshires had remained in their trenches. It was only when evidence was given during the course of the inquiry that the slur against them could be cleared up. According to that evidence, the morning attack had highlighted two major problems.

The wire in front of the South Staffordshires' right and centre had only been cut in a few narrow lanes.

The second obstacle, as pointed out by the battalion's Captain Howard Vivian Mander, of the Wolverhampton family dynasty, in relation to the lane opposite him, was that it was covered by a machine gun. There were piles of dead and dying men heaped in the gap who had been shot down while trying to pass through the wire in an attempt to reach the German frontline. To avoid this problem, the 5th South Staffordshires were instructed to slip to the left for the follow-up attack that afternoon.

But that exacerbated the second problem – the slow progress of the South Staffordshire's reserve company to the British frontline. They were delayed by thick glutinous mud and the bodies of dead comrades at the bottom of the communication trenches leading to the frontline.

According to one soldier, it was 'almost impossible to make progress.' Casualties were 'very heavy' because of 'the bombardment and the congestion'. Many who fell 'disappeared beneath the mud'. He 'stumbled over many bodies which were out of sight while walking' towards the frontline.

Major WA Wistance, who was responsible for organising the attack by the 1st/5th South Staffordshires, asked whether he could postpone it until all his men were in their correct positions. But he was told the assault must go ahead.

Message

The inquiry heard that he then informed two 18-year-old subalterns in the frontline, who would have to pass on the order for the charge, that he would send them a message when it was time to go.

However, minutes before zero hour, an explosion from an enemy shell buried the major, and the message was never given. The men remained in their trenches but it was not out of cowardice, as the hearing revealed.

The book's author Hugh Sebag Montefiore said: "People know about the first day of the Somme but they don't really talk about the inquiry that went on afterwards and, as a result, it is little known. And it's not really surprising as this was the worst thing you could accuse a regiment of.

"But the Staffordshires were completely exonerated. The evidence showed that there had been a breakdown in communication and proved that the regiment were not cowards."

Live music venue aiming to Phil gap in the market

IT has already seen the likes of noughties dirtbags Wheatus play killer sets in front of a sell-out crowd.

Now, less than three months down the line, Cannock's new flagship music venue The Station has big plans for the future. Located next to the bus station in the town centre, it opened its doors in mid-April at the former Cannock town centre Working Men's Club – after plans for a new alcohol and drugs rehabilitation centre were shelved.

Flagship venue

Since then, it has hosted a range of gigs and club nights, catering for all types of music from rock and metal to soul and blues.

But owner Phil Beaman, from Cannock, says this is only the beginning.

Big plans – Phil Beaman outside The Station in Cannock

For the 28-year-old, it is all relatively new for him after packing everything else in to concentrate on running the business.

He previously worked as a tattoo artist and has plans to expand to some of the bigger cities in the future.

"We're a few months down the line but it's going really well so far," he said. "And we've got some cracking bands lined up in the next few weeks and months.

"I just thought there was a big space for it in the market. At the moment you have got to travel to Stoke, Wolverhampton or Birmingham to see some bands that play something a bit different. Now we've got something a bit closer to home."

Among the artists to play The Station since it opened are Beans On Toast, a DJ set by Skindred, and Gnarwolves.

And as well as hosting some of music's most celebrated talent, the venue also holds a monthly rock night.

Tribute bands have included the Really Hot Chili Peppers, Whole Lotta Led and The Smiths Ltd.

Phil added: "Wheatus was a really good night. We've had people coming from quite far to come to some of the gigs too which is great. Eventually I'd like to get into the big cities but at the moment I want to give the locals something to enjoy."

Future events at The Station to look out for include Red Dwarf, Robot Wars and Coronation Street's Craig Charles who is stopping by in Cannock as part of his Funk n Soul Club, Chase and Dave, and the notorious MC Devvo.

To keep track of future events at The Station go to www.ents24.com/cannock-events/the-station or find the venue on Facebook at www.facebook.com/thestationlive

People blaming messenger not the cause

FOR years we have been told that UKIP is a 'silly little party', without power or influence and why would anyone support it?

Having now caused several major political figures to resign, including the former Prime Minister David Cameron, led to the major political earthquake long promised by Nigel Farage tearing the Labour Party apart, massed political panic across the EU, many other countries demanding their own referendums to leave the EU, a reawakening of interests in, and by, the Commonwealth, proposed trade deals the like of which we have never known in the last near 50 years, a general feeling of euphoria in the country as we see, at last, the end of the nightmare which is the EU and much more, we can reflect that, for a 'silly little party' with just one MP, it 'punches well above its weight'.

What we are not responsible for are the terrible events in Nice and elsewhere in Europe, the upsets in Turkey, the upsurge in racial attacks in the UK (UKIP was the first party to condemn such actions), a minor travel company (which was not part of ABTA) going bankrupt and all the other false accusations the desperate Remainers who refuse to accept the democratic voice of the people are throwing at it.

By blaming UKIP and Brexit for all the troubles in the world people are blaming the messenger, not the cause.

Financial decisions just do not add up

WE are supposed to be the fifth largest economy in the world, but when I look around and read newspaper articles it's hard to believe.

All around the country, organisations that were put in place to support those who needs it, we see the declining support groups for families, mental health groups closing, victim support now being done by Citizens Advice and they are losing funding. Now the Government is giving funding to local councils, at the same time cutting funding. Councils are saying this is why cutbacks are happening, but they can afford bigger buildings for themselves.

Then you hear and read about individuals and companies are so-called legally avoiding paying tax. It is about time the Government closed all the loopholes and got them to pay tax. If they not happy about it, then let them move to another country.

Power in the only answer

AS a socialist I probably have many of the same views as Mr Corbyn. The thing is, I am a realist. Shouting across the House about food banks only falls on deaf ears. The only way to do anything about these problems is to be in power. To win, the party needs to appeal to a wider part of the electorate and give them confidence. Unfortunately, Mr Corbyn and his union backers will not do this.

Get walking to cut your health risks

NEW research has revealed that office workers need to do twice as much exercise as other adults to reduce their risk of premature death – and has recommended walking more.

Environmental pressures, such as desk jobs, make healthy choices difficult.

However, inactivity is making people unhealthy and unhappy, accounting for one in six deaths in the UK and costing the health service up to £10bn a year.

One way or another, we need to introduce more activity into our lives – and walking is an easy way to do this. We want to create a walking nation.

Just a 20-minute walk a day can provide noticeable physical and mental health benefits, reducing the risk of heart disease, diabetes, certain cancers, stroke and depression. Employers should ensure their staff feel able to go for walks and encourage them to do so.

MP should be praised for committee role

I WANT to offer my congratulations to our MP , Amanda Milling, for her part in the parliamentary committee exposing the immoral and illegal work practices at Sports Direct.

Unfortunately this employer is not unique. Indeed a number of the businesses criticised in the report operate in our community.

Bolsover District Council was also criticised for its regulatory role and I have written to our own department to seek assurances about our own approach to the challenges of poor or illegal employment practices and local coordination with the Health & Safety Executive and Gangmasters Licensing Authority.

Having weapons can send out wrong signal

AT a cost of £205 billion Britain is to renew its weapons of mass destruction.

Theresa May has said she would be prepared to 'press the button'.

It is a decision of mind numbing stupidity and obscenity. Nuclear weapons are useless; they deter neither terrorism nor cyber attacks – two of our major threats. Their use would result in possible planetary extinction.

Nuclear deterrence? Possession and renewal of these weapons can send a signal to other nations to develop their own nuclear arsenal accelerating an already cancerous proliferation.

Couple bowled one another over

Celebrating their diamond wedding are Les Lloyd and his wife June Lloyd, who live in Shareshill

A couple who met at a cricket match more than 60 years ago were hit for six when romance struck.

June and Les Lloyd, who live in Wolverhampton, met at the match in Shareshill and are now celebrating their diamond wedding. Originally from Hednesford, Mrs Lloyd, 84, said: "I went with friends to a cricket game in Shareshill.

"I'd never been to a cricket game before and I didn't really want to go, but they managed to convince me."

"Les was playing and I spoke to him after the game and we just clicked.

"We used to meet on Tuesday's after that, I didn't know at the time, but that's when he should have been training with the Aston Villa youth team. He had to go and do his national service for two years and we sent letters to keep in touch. We got married as soon as he came back."

Mr Lloyd, 81, and Mrs Lloyd married at St Mary and St Luke Church, Shareshill, on a sunny day on July 21, 1956 and went to Torquay for their honeymoon.

They have one 57-year-old son, three grandchildren and one great-grandchild who is 11-months-old.

Mrs Lloyd said: "We ran a newsagents together in Shareshill for years and then one on Ashmore Park before retiring.

"Since 1970 we've worked together and always been there for one another – we've really enjoyed our lives."

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Brian Stanley feels that it's all about service. 'Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 5 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done.

We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole.'

Cloudy2Clear service Wolverhampton and the surrounding area and Brian is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated.'

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Brian a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Riders hurt as fly-tipped rubbish scares horses

Sarah Rose, Leah Wilkinson, Feebee and Nobel are recovering after the horses were scared by the dumped rubbish

TWO riders were injured when their horses fell over a pile of rubbish dumped in the middle of a bridle path.

Sarah Rose, aged 58, and her daughter, Leah Wilkinson, 29, were out with Feebee and Nobel Chance on a route they regularly use on Cannock Chase.

They spotted what appeared to be a mattress but instead found piles of fly-tipped rubbish blocking their way.

Both horses were startled by the mess, throwing Mrs Rose in a ditch and her daughter onto the rubbish. The mother and daughter, from Heathfields Farm, Rugeley, were left with cuts on their legs, while Mrs Wilkinson also suffered a bleeding nose.

Mrs Rose said the pair regularly use the route over Cannock Chase from their stables nearby.

Among the mess dropped in the path were bin bags, children's toys and household items.

Councillor Mike Hoare, shadow environment portfolio leader on Cannock Chase Council, said: "Fly-tipping is one of my pet hates. That someone has been injured as a result is deplorable.

Council leader Councillor George Adamson said: "If we can catch them, they deserve everything that gets thrown at them."

Barney sees the sights for a good cause

Barney the dog with Dr Richard Buka and Holly Necchi in Lubeck, Berlin

A DOG had a barking good time when he joined his owners on a 2,000-mile charity bike ride overseas to raise more than £1,600.

Seeing the sights from his very own trailer, Barney trotted and rode from Fauske, in Norway, to the Alps.

He and his two-legged companions – Dr Richard Buka and his partner Holly Necchi, both aged 27 – have so far raised a total of £1,622.50 for Birmingham Children's Hospital.

They are continuing their fund-raising drive and are appealing for well-wishers and businesses to help them to reach their £2,000 target.

Dr Buka, formerly of Newport, Shropshire, and Miss Necchi, of Cannock, undertook the charity ride in May while on sabbaticals from their respective careers.

The idea for Barney's big bike ride came about when their close friend's newborn baby, Thomas Worpole, of Wellington, Shropshire, spent four months in the children's hospital with oesophageal atresia – a condition where his oesophagus was not connected to his stomach when he was born. He had to have several operations to correct the problem.

The couple cycled about 40 miles a day, with their two-year-old dog – a cross between a Cavalier King Charles Spaniel and a Bichon Frise – seeing the sights from his own trailer. The route took them through Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Germany and the Czech Republic. Dr Buka said: "Barney saw the majority of the sights from his comfy trailer but also had plenty of exercise as he was able to run about five miles a day."

Dr Buka is taking up a post at Birmingham's Queen Elizabeth Hospital this month, while Miss Necchi, a maths teacher, will start at Cardinal Griffin Catholic High School, in Cannock, next month.

Proceeds from the trek are going towards the children's hospital's new Rare Diseases Centre.

A year full of fun and friendship

The Ridwares WI

AT its AGM, The WI looked back on an exciting centennial year of 2015-16, full of fun and friendship.

President Karen Wakefield and her hardworking committee had continued to produce and support an enjoyable and wide-ranging programme for the 54 members by providing a variety of interesting speakers and assorted activities. A continued focus and highlight had been the Centennial Community Challenge Project – raising money for a Public Access Defibrillator.

This was a very successful endeavour – enough funds were raised to cover the purchase of a portable PAD (£1,000), to donate £145 towards the village hall acquisition of a permanent PAD, to pay for two training sessions for villagers run by St John Ambulance and to pay for further training at Henry Chadwick School.

Coffee mornings are held each month in the village hall and are well-supported by villagers who appreciate the friendship and community. The walking group continues to meet on Tuesday mornings and members regularly don rubber gloves and collect litter en route. Members also use this time to visit those in need of a friendly chat and company.

The craft club meets fortnightly, with ladies producing items for the 'tinsel and trimmings' evening and subsequent trade tables. Two new kneelers to mark the WI centenary are being produced, one for each of the churches in Mavesyn and Hamstall Ridware.

Club's bra donation plea well supported

Cannock Soroptimists

CANNOCK Soroptimists would like to thank all those who were so generous with their donations of pre-loved bras, toiletries and teddy bears at St Luke's Church fair.

An on-going project for the club is to support Pathway, providing help and refuge to women victims of domestic violence. At their stall, Soroptimists welcomed donations of toiletries, and other items essential to women, to be given to them at a time when they have nothing.

President Carole Holdcroft was thrilled to be able to take a car boot full of goods to Pathway and these will be put to immediate use. Soroptimists have also been collecting bras which will be sent, through the Purple Teardrop campaign, to Uganda, Mozambique and El Salvador to enable women rescued from trafficking to set up businesses in order to be self-sufficient and to keep them out of the sex trade. Club members were overwhelmed with the response to their request for bras, with more than 600 donated.

A new venture is to support the Buddy Bag Foundation with new teddy bears which go into a bag given to children who find themselves in a refuge because of domestic abuse towards a parent.

Moving talk on vital service

Etching Hill WI

MEMBERS were privileged to meet Paul and Marc from the Midland Freewheelers Emergency Rider Voluntary Service, who gave a personal, moving and humorous talk on the essential service they voluntarily provide.

Although commonly known as Blood Bikes this group of volunteers transport a variety of emergency medical essentials to wherever they are needed. They are not funded by the NHS and, as a registered charity, are always on the lookout for ways of raising money.

The Blood Bikes also regularly collect urgently needed breast milk, used in the treatment of sick or premature babies, and deliver it to the Birmingham Women's Hospital for sterilisation and freezing ready for the next emergency.

WI members heard their own fundraising efforts with a mini-auction, coffee morning and barn dance has raised £1,500 towards a Public Access Defibrillator.

Mascot roaring to go with new name

Linda Hopkins from Cannock Shopping Centre with name-the-masoct winner Farrah Shan, aged 10

CANNOCK Shopping Centre has announced that its very own Team GB mascot has officially been named – just in time for the start of the Olympic Games in Rio tomorrow.

Last month the centre invited shoppers to enter a competition to win the cuddly mascot by suggesting a name for him.

Farrah Shan, aged 10, from Cannock, was chosen as the winner, following her suggestion of LionHeart.

Farrah chose LionHeart as she wanted to name the toy after King Richard I.

The toy lion will now live happily in Cannock with the Shan family.

Centre manager Natal Chapman said: "We really wanted to get Cannock residents excited for the Games, which is why we've hosted a number of themed events recently including this one.

"I would like to first thank everyone who entered this competition – we received a lot of fantastic suggestions.

"Congratulations to Farrah – we loved the name LionHeart and thought it was very fitting."

M6 speed limit cut to 50mph – yet again

THE speed limit on the M6 in Staffordshire will be slashed to 50mph for about two years to allow a £265 million congestion-busting scheme to take place.

Highways England has unveiled plans for a 'smart motorway' scheme between junctions 13, for Stafford, and 15, for Stoke-on-Trent.

It will be an extension of the £87.5 million project on the stretch between junctions 10a and 13, which finished in January.

Preliminary works will start in February, while the main scheme will get under way in 2018. Average speed cameras enforcing a 20mph reduction in the speed limit will be introduced.

The project involves converting the hard shoulder into a permanent fourth lane and installing CCTV and electronic information signs on gantries to manage traffic flow and incidents.

It also involves creating 20 emergency refuge areas along the 28km stretch, replacing the central barrier and developing noise barriers in built-up areas.

It is hoped the scheme will be finished by 2020, although the same works which took place between junctions 10a and 13 missed its deadline by several months.

By Carl Jackson

The technology means control room staff can identify collisions and breakdowns within seconds.

Sensors under the road detect when traffic is suddenly slowing down and can automatically trigger a temporary reduced limit which is enforced by the information boards.

Highways England project manager Kenny Guihen, said: "It helps to prevent accidents and enables us to manage them better when they happen by encouraging people to slow down.

"It can also enforce reduced limits on the opposite carriageway because sometimes you get 'rubbernecking' with people driving passed looking at what has happened. It just makes everything safer."

Seven-hour wait sparks plea for 24-hour A&E

PATIENTS were forced to wait more than seven hours in hospital corridors before being seen by a doctor in A&E, it has been claimed.

Video footage has emerged of patients on trolleys at Royal Stoke University Hospital, which has seen an influx of patients since County Hospital's A&E department started closing overnight.

It has led to fresh calls to see A&E at County Hospital fully reopen 24 hours a day to help relieve the pressure.

University Hospitals of North Midlands NHS Trust, which runs both County Hospital and Royal Stoke, said the ageing population is driving A&E attendances up and that it is 'no secret' that the department is 'exceptionally busy'.

Matt Walker's video of patients on trolleys in a corridor at the hospital

Arrived

Matt Walker, a 32-year-old father from Gnosall, took a relative to the Royal Stoke A&E department on Monday last week.

He said he arrived at the hospital at 9pm and left at 5am, with his mother-in-law stuck on a trolley in a corridor and not seen by a doctor until 4.45am – a wait of some eight hours.

To vent his frustration, he took to Facebook where he shared a video he took inside the emergency department.

Mr Walker said: "We arrived maybe just after 9pm to the A&E in a car after my mother-in-law had been taken up by ambulance. There was roughly 200 people there, with some sitting on the floor as there was not enough chairs.

"Luckily as the ambulance service brought her in she went straight through to a corridor where she was transferred to a bed. The corridor contained 20 plus people who were already on beds waiting to be seen. Within five minutes she was observed and then every hour until 4.40am when she was seen by the doctor.

"We were not happy but the doctors and nurses did the best they could as they were 100 per cent overworked."

With Royal Stoke a 40-minute drive away for Mr Walker, and County Hospital 10 minutes, he said he was '100 per cent' in favour of bringing back round-the-clock A&E services to Stafford. Responding to the video, Dr Julie Norton, clinical lead and emergency medicine consultant for the UHNM NHS Trust, said: "It is no secret that our A&E is exceptionally busy.

"The ageing population continues to drive an increase in A&E attendances and we are seeing many more patients over 85-years-old and increased numbers of ambulance referrals."

Hotel and better parking at centre of drive for tourism

By Tom Oakley

PLANS to create extra car parking and build a hotel in Hednesford have been unveiled as the town looks to expand.

The 2016 Hednesford Neighbourhood Plan has revealed that the town council wants to increase parking, offer 'tourist accommodation' and create a larger taxi rank.

On top of expanding, council bosses are hoping that Hednesford could be used as a gateway for tourists to access Cannock Chase.

The neighbourhood plan identifies five key issues.

One of them is to enhance Market Street to enable it to function as a vibrant and viable centre for local shopping, financial and professional services and leisure activities.

It also talks about developing areas of underused and unattractive land between Market Street and Victoria Street, to enhance the town centre and improve links between Market Street, the new retail developments, the park and Hednesford Hills.

This could possibly include tourist accommodation to enable the town to function as a gateway to Cannock Chase.

Also included in the plan is improving the 'public realm' of Market Street, in particular the car park at the rear of the Co-op and the land between the boundary of this car park and the railway station, in order to provide an attractive gateway to the town.

Market Street is at the heart of consultations for Hednesford

There are plans to provide a larger taxi rank to serve the town and railway station and plans for additional car parking to cater for the growth in commuting by train.

Councillor Alan Pearson, who represents the Hednesford North and is vice-chairman of the planning control committee at Cannock Chase Council, said: "A hotel being introduced in the town is a possibility.

"I don't see why one couldn't be built. Or the one at Woody's Bar. They have catered for people who are using the area for motorbikes in the past but it could be utilised better.

"We wouldn't mind seeing an old people's home close to Hednesford too. We've got quite a lot of people who are retired in the town and there are currently decent homes in Cannock and Rugeley so why not have one in Hednesford?

"I'd like to see the taxi rank removed and see one built next the train station where people get off.

"It would free up the road at Anglesey Street for delivery lorries, and the taxi companies and people would actually benefit from it."

Residents are being offered the chance to have their say on the proposals via an online questionnaire.

The consultation process runs until August 31.

Comments

Councillor Pearson added: "I think it could be an exciting time for the town. The people of Hednesford are the neighbourhood plan.

"The idea is to put forward the plans we have and ask them to come to us with any comments and any ideas.

"This is the public's chance to change our minds and I'd like as many as possible submitted."

Information leaflets and display banners have been distributed around the town to make people aware that they can have their say on the future of Hednesford.

Printed copies of the draft plan are now available to view at Pye Green Community Centre and Hednesford Library.

The questionnaire can be completed at www.hednesford-tc.gov.uk/hednesford-neighbourhood-plan

Special deal for lesson in first aid

A 'BUY one, get one free' deal is being offered by St John Ambulance on all bookings for its basic first aid evening course in Hednesford this month.

The aim is to encourage more people to learn how to deal with common injuries and first aid situations.

The special session will take place on Tuesday, August 16 from 7pm to 10pm.

Techniques taught will include how to treat minor bleeding and burns, and dealing with fainting, bites and stings. The course costs £30 (including VAT) and for every place booked, a second person can attend with them free of charge.

The course is suitable for anyone aged 12 and over. Under-18s must be accompanied by an adult.

Booking is essential. Call 0121 237 3879 or email west-mids-training@sja.org.uk for more details.

Jim honoured for site work

A HEDNESFORD site manager has been honoured for his homebuilding in the first round of the annual NHBC Pride in the Job Awards.

Jim Rogers, of Barratt West Midlands, won the award for his management of the Billberry Chase site in Hednesford.

He joins almost 450 other Quality Award winners from across the UK.

'Sad loss' if church has to close

THE closure of the Church of Saint Saviours in Hednesford would be a loss to the area, a councillor has said.

Councillor Alan Pearson, who represents the Hednesford area, said: "Churches are such iconic parts of the community.

"But it has become unsafe and I don't think it would be an attractive building to sell."

Built in the 1800s for the growing mining community, the church, in High Mount Street, is set to close due to safety fears.

The congregation has now dwindled to about a dozen, and the parish cannot afford the estimated repair bill.

Rev Paul Kelly said: "The building itself is actually crumbling.

"It has lots of problems structurally. We are patching up where we can."

Staff in road safety lesson

PYE Green Academy had a visit from staff at building products manufacturer Forterra to highlight road safety awareness.

Employees from the firm's Hams Hall facility in Coleshill visited the school in a delivery truck.

They spoke to pupils about traffic hazards, and presented the school with orange high-visibility tabards and goody bags.

Go-karting plan revs up again on the same site

CHICANES, hairpin turns and apex corners – these images show what a planned go-kart complex near Cannock will look.

Plans for the new site, featuring a 1.2-kilometre track, have been submitted to Cannock Chase Council.

It will be built on a site north of Wyrley Common and south of the A5 Watling Street in Norton Canes.

The images show how the track would look, as well as how some of the connecting buildings and the car parking would take shape.

A similar application for a new go-kart track on the same land was submitted in 2004 and approved subject to financial conditions – but these were never met, and the application lapsed.

Cannock Chase has been without a go-kart track for more than a decade after the previous one at Chasewater was forced to close because of the M6 Toll being built.

Car parking, offices and a garage area will be included at the site

The proposals are for a go-kart track which would be 1.2km long

Noise

Councillor Zaphne Stretton, who represents the Norton Canes ward, said she supported the previous plans and would support the newly submitted ones provided they abide by regulations.

She said: "I supported the original application because it was away from properties and so the noise, which is obviously a concern for a go-kart track, only affected the properties on Lime Lane.

"I do not know exactly what the new plans are because I am not on the planning committee anymore but I am sure I will see them when they are sent to Norton Canes Parish Council.

"If these plans abide by regulations, then I will be supporting them. At the end of the day it is a sport, and sport is good.

"We should be getting more young people into sport." A planning statement submitted by the applicant, Wallace Estates, reads: "The planning application is for the change of use of this open area to provide an outdoor go-kart circuit of regional significance.

"No such facility exists within the West Midlands region, the nearest equivalent being Daventy to the south-east, some 60 miles distant. It would provide a race circuit some 1,200 metres in length in the central part of the site.

"Associated buildings for administration, toilets, refreshments and garage area would be located in the narrowest part of the site between the circuit on the west side and customer car park on the east side of the new site entrance."

£3.5m revamped cycle path used by 44 a day

A RENOVATED cycle path that cost taxpayers more than £3.5 million was used by 44 people a day, it can be revealed.

The cycle route from the A5 Churchbridge to Brownhills cost taxpayers £3.56m to renovate.

A survey by Highways England before the work began shows that 44 cyclists were clocked from 7am to 7pm over the course of a summer day. This means that the new route has cost £81,000 per cyclist, and this figure could be higher as some of the cyclists could have been clocked more than once during the June 2014 survey.

A Freedom of Information request submitted to Highways England revealed that a total of £600,000 was spent on the work from Washbrook Lane to Churchbridge, £1.2m for the work from the A5 Rising Sun to Washbrook Lane and £1.76m for the work on the A452 Brownhills cycle path.

Return

As part of the FoI reply, which took more than two months to be issued, Highways England said it had carried out a survey on June 5, 2014 to see how many were using the current cycle path.

Between the hours of 7am and 7pm a total of 44 cyclists were clocked, including 18 on the A5 West, three on Wilkin Road, 11 on the A5 East and 17 on the A452.

Great Wyrley resident Fred Lees, who submitted the FoI request, said: "It is reasonable to assume that a percentage of those 44 were making a return journey, eg going to work and then going home from work."

Mr Less describes himself as a regular A5 user, and added: "Highways England have spent at least £3,560,000 of taxpayers' money to accommodate possibly 22 cyclists. That works out at approximately £161,000 per bike."

Highways England group leader Martin Bolt said: "A scheme was put in place on the A452 at Brownhills after a number of collisions involving cyclists. This provision has been welcomed locally."

Sea Cadets need new faces

Volunteers showing cadets how to drive a power boat

STAFFORD and Rugeley Sea Cadets have launched a recruitment campaign to help 'keep inspiring young people through nautical adventure'.

There are several roles to match various skills, and there are also training opportunities with a view to volunteers using their free time in the evening by showing cadets how to sail, powerboat, kayak or windsurf.

The group also need volunteers to teach first aid, football, mountain biking, navigation, drill and many other skills.

The Commanding Officer, Lieutenant (SCC) Lee Townsend RMR, said: "We welcome all adults living in Stafford and the surrounding areas to pop in to the unit when we're open to meet other volunteers and cadets, have a tour of the unit, and have a chat about any roles that suit you.

"Don't be put off if you haven't got any relevant qualifications – all you need is basic knowledge and lots of enthusiasm."

The unit is open every Tuesday and Friday from 7pm until 9.30pm.

M6 Toll firm helps military patients

Dave Watson, centre, Maxine Estevez and James Hodson with the donated canvases

THE operator of the M6 Toll are helping military patients and their families experience a home away from home as part of its annual 'drive for charity'.

It has sponsored a family room at Fisher House, at Queen Elizabeth Hospital Birmingham, where service people can stay during a period of treatment.

The Weeford Room is being funded for a year by the M6 Toll operator which has also contributed to the room's interior décor with artwork for the walls.

To mark its contribution, a plaque for the Weeford Room was unveiled last week. Fisher House was built in 2013 by The Queen Elizabeth Hospital Birmingham Charity and the US charity, Fisher House Foundation, and provides a supportive environment where residents can relax and spend time with their loved ones away from the wards.

It enables families to take great comfort and strength from sharing their experiences with others in the same situation, through communal living areas including lounge, play area, dining areas, laundry room, kitchen and cinema room.

There are 18 spacious en-suite bedrooms which are designed for people of all abilities, including wheelchair users. Outside, there is a private garden and those staying at the house also benefit from the use of the Morris Centre, a nearby leisure facility which offers a swimming pool, squash courts, a games area and gym.

James Hodson, operations director for the M6 Toll, said: "Fisher House is an amazing facility that helps more than 400 serving military personnel who undergo treatment from the Royal Centre for Defence Medicine at the QE every year.

"We are honoured to help support its delivery and ultimately help those servicemen and women who give so much in the service of their country."

Father tells of shock at branch crash on Chase

A RUGELEY father has spoken of his 'shock, panic and numbness' after his daughter was injured when a falling branch wrecked the car in which she was travelling.

Rear seat passenger Faith Molineux suffered multiple fractures to her jaw, left eye socket and left cheek together with a deep laceration and a broken left arm.

This week the eight-year-old was preparing for facial reconstruction surgery.

Her mother and father – Natalie and Dan, aged 30 and 40 respectively – have been told their only child is lucky to alive after the terrifying incident in Rugeley Road on Cannock Chase near the Beau Desert Golf Club on Monday afternoon last week. They kept a round-the-clock vigil at her bedside in Birmingham Children's Hospital.

Faith on an outing before the fateful day

Faith in hospital after the accident

The wrecked Peugeot 107 after it was hit by the branch on Cannock Chase

Injuries

Mr Molineux, a technical support worker from Plovers Rise, Rugeley, said: "The hospital staff have been great but doctors said Faith would have been crushed to death if she had been any taller."

The Etching Hill Primary School, pupil was on her first day of the summer holiday and being driven by her aunt Alisha Vivian to take their dogs for a walk when the incident happened. Miss Vivian and her boyfriend Nathaniel Hailey, who was in the front passenger seat of the Peugeot 107, suffered minor injuries.

Mr Molineux and his wife were at work but reached the scene minutes later after being alerted to what had happened by Miss Vivian.

He said: "My first reaction was a feeling of shock, panic and numbness. There was a lot of blood. A woman who had been driving past was a real angel. She squeezed into the tangled wreckage of the car to reach Faith and helped her as much as possible until the paramedics came.

"She deserves a medal for what she did, and we cannot thank her enough."

Staffordshire Police said they had not been asked to investigate the reason why the branch had fallen. Cannock Chase Council said management of the trees was the responsibility of the Forestry Commission.

A Forestry Commission spokesman said: "Our thoughts are with those travelling in the car, and we hope everybody involved makes a quick recovery. The district forester has investigated and confirmed that no forest operations have taken place recently in this area of woodland."

Young dancers in step with Space launch

Staffordshire's Police and Crime Commissioner Matthew Ellis with members of the Attitude Streetcheer group

YOUNG street dancers in Burntwood were joined by Staffordshire's Police and Crime Commissioner, Matthew Ellis, for the launch of Space 2016.

To celebrate, Mr Ellis joined members of the Attitude Streetcheer group based at Burntwood Leisure Centre.

Attitude Streetcheer is run by the sports development Team at Lichfield District Council and takes place on Monday afternoons throughout the summer holidays. Tasmin Turner, youth sports development officer for the council, said: I'm really pleased with the first Streetcheer session of the Space programme, with new participants in the first week.

"We are looking forward to continuing the sessions throughout the summer and welcoming new people. It's a fun and energetic session that fuses street dance with cheerleading."

Space was originally an activities scheme led by police in Staffordshire that ran until the 1990s. Space 2016 is aimed at increasing skills, improving health and wellbeing, and creating opportunities for young people aged 11 to 17 to take part in positive activities to make communities safer.

More than 3,100 individual indoor and outdoor activities – many of them free of charge – are on offer including archery, tobogganing, ice-skating, swimming, boxing, arts and crafts, wildlife, and ten-pin bowling.

Space 2016 runs up to and including September 2.

Hundreds of knives handed in to police

MORE than 300 weapons including swords, machetes and cut-throat razors were surrendered to police in Staffordshire in less than a month.

The haul was handed over as part of a campaign by Staffordshire Police, alongside Stoke-on-Trent City Council and local authorities across the county.

The weapons will now be used as part of a knife angel – a 26ft high sculpture symbolising the campaign against violence and aggression.

The force set up 18 secure knife-bins at locations across the county including police stations in Cannock, Rugeley, Lichfield, Stafford, and Wombourne so they could be deposited anonymously.

Along with kitchen and sheath knives, people also left ceremonial swords, meat cleavers, machetes, lock knives, knuckle dusters and a barber's razor. The Bin the Blade campaign was backed by the British Ironwork Centre in Oswestry, who supplied the secure knife-bins and who will use the surrendered weapons to add to their angel sculpture.

Some of the haul handed over

Chief Supt Martin Evans, head of local policing for Staffordshire Police, said: "I am pleased with the response we've had to the amnesty; not just in the number of knives handed in but the support shown by partners. I'm grateful it isn't just the police saying this – it's partner agencies, it's experts, it's victims, it's the families of victims that are all passing on this strong message.

"The amnesty is one of the things we're doing to raise the awareness of the danger of people carrying knives.

"Carrying a knife doesn't make you safer – in fact it makes you more vulnerable to being a victim of crime.

"It's a very powerful message – carrying knives wrecks lives."

Staffordshire County councillor Gill Heath, cabinet member for communities, said: "We have been working together with the police and a variety of different organisations over the last few weeks to help people understand the dangers of carrying knives and bladed weapons.

"The increase in incidents is a worrying trend, so the more we can do to educate people and encourage them to surrender their knives, the more chance we have of preventing knife crime in future. We're confident it will have had a lasting impact."

More collectors fair dates

MORE dates have been added to a popular antiques and collectors fair this summer due to growing numbers.

Penkridge Market launched the fair in January, and has seen it increase in size over the last six months, with more than 100 stallholders now taking part.

Normally held on the first Thursday of every month, the market will also take on Sundays and further selected dates throughout the summer.

Event organiser Victoria Spencer said: "We are thrilled. We started with just 15 stalls back in January and now have over 100 and visitor numbers have quadrupled."

The fair, which sells everything from fine jewellery and furniture, to stuffed animals and military collectables, includes indoor and outdoor areas.

An extra fair will take place on August 14 with further dates to be announced.

Market manager Matt Williams said: "We are so pleased that the event is doing so well and it has exceeded all our expectations."

'Keep everyone informed' plea over rail hub

DEVELOPERS behind plans for a national rail freight interchange in South Staffordshire need to ensure local communities are kept fully informed and must give detailed justification on its choice of location, the county's economy leader has said.

Mark Winnington, Staffordshire County Council's cabinet member for economic growth, is calling for more information on the potential impact on traffic volume, the rural environment and employment opportunities.

He said it was essential that Four Ashes Ltd, the organisation behind the plans, continues with full and open talks with local residents, businesses, councils and interested organisations. Councillor Winnington has now written to the company to set out a number of requirements.

He added: "It is encouraging that Four Ashes Ltd is consulting with communities on the rail freight interchange plans and says it is committed to protecting the environment and alleviating local concerns but we need to see much more detail on potential impact.

Understand

"This would be a huge development in a rural location so we need to see a full and detailed justification on the choice of location.

"We would like this consultation period to include workshop sessions with local people and businesses so they can fully understand how the development would affect them. It is essential that we have more information on traffic volume and environmental protection.

"The developers say that up to 8,500 jobs would be created and we would want to make absolutely sure that Staffordshire people would be able to take full advantage. Therefore we are asking for an employment, skills and training plan to be drawn up so that local people properly benefit."

Fundraiser pedals his way to £2,000

Adrian Cooper celebrates at the end of his London to Paris bike ride which raised funds for the HELP Appeal

PENKRIDGE fundraiser Adrian Cooper spent four days pedalling more than 300 miles from London to Paris, to raise a grand total of £2,065 for the HELP Appeal.

Joined by 173 other cyclists, Adrian crossed parts of the route of the Tour de France, which saw Chris Froome become Britain's first three-time winner of the competition.

Adrian's charity of choice, the HELP Appeal (Helicopter Emergency Landing Pads), is run by the Country Air Ambulance Trust, and is a charity organisation that relies solely on the support of donations and raises money to provide non-repayable grants for emergency helicopter landing pads at hospitals across the UK. These helipads are vital to ensuring patients receive the immediate and specialist attention required at those critical moments, and significantly reduce patients transfer times to hospitals.

This was Adrian's biggest and lengthiest challenge to date.He took on the challenge to support his friend Lesley Knight, who lost her only son Thomas in 2008 after a road accident and is now an ambassador for the HELP Appeal.

Adrian said: "It was a tough ride, long days, sore legs but it was all worth it." Adrian is still welcoming donations via Just Giving at www.justgiving.com/Adrian-Cooper77

Skills leader issues call for more apprentices

WORK to create more apprenticeship and training opportunities must continue to maintain low unemployment levels in Staffordshire, according to the county's skills leader.

Figures show 0.9 per cent of Staffordshire's population are claiming unemployment benefit, with Councillor Ben Adams saying the focus must remain on increasing people's skills so they can get better-paid jobs.

By Jordan Harris

The Staffordshire claimant figure is the lowest rate in this measure of all West Midlands authorities with the number of people in Staffordshire claiming out-of-work Universal Credit benefits, including Job Seekers Allowance, standing at 4,645.

Councillor Adams said: "It is encouraging to see that we are maintaining the lowest unemployment figures in the region but we want to see more people in better-skilled, better-paid jobs.

"Businesses are still struggling to fill higher-skilled positions, and we will continue to do all we can to address this in Staffordshire."

The need for more apprenticeships has also been emphasised by business leaders in the county. More than 120 apprentices from across Staffordshire and Stoke-on-Trent took part in the area's 2016 apprenticeship graduation ceremony.

David Frost , chairman of the Staffordshire and Stoke-on-Trent Local Enterprise Partnership, said: "Apprenticeships are a key focus of our work to bring growth and prosperity to our region."

JCB apprentice engineer Sam Turner from Cannock said: "I want to train to degree level but I chose the apprenticeship route because it has given me four years' work experience with a massive company with many progression opportunities."

Roofer, 21, failed in his legal obligation

A ROOFER failed to supply customers with documents to inform them of their legal right to cancel the transactions, a court heard.

Harry James Clee carried out work at three properties in the same Shrewsbury street in July last year. He admitted three offences of being a trader engaged in a commercial practice which is a misleading omission.

Clee, aged 21,of Bursnips Road, Essington, also admitted one offence of being a trader engaged in a commercial practice which is a misleading action containing false information.

Mr Mike Davies, prosecuting on behalf of Shropshire Council, said Clee was in breach of the Consumer Protection from Unfair Trading Regulations 2008.

He told Telford Magistrates Court: "They are there to regulate how the trader interacts with consumers to ensure that any consumer is fully aware of what their rights are, so that they can make a decision whether to go ahead to use or purchase that service.

"The traders should provide cancellation rights so that if the consumer thinks that there is some pressure they can have a rethink and cancel if they disagree with it. On any invoices there should be a contact number relating to the trader."

By Deborah Hardiman

Mr Davies said that while only one customer was dissatisfied with the standard of the work carried out, all of them said they may not have gone ahead with the contract if they had been made aware of their rights.

Mr Chris Loach, defending, said Clee did not accept that he 'put people under pressure to have work done'.

Chairman of the bench Mr Nigel Atkinson said: "We do not think this was deliberate pressure, but a result of your poor administration."

Clee was given a six-month conditional discharge and ordered to pay £215 costs and £15 victims' surcharge.

Rail pledge 'the result of passenger feedback'

Boots takes business unit

Senior development surveyor Jonathan Green – 'the business park continues to answer tenants' needs and is now almost completely occupied'

BOOTS is one of two businesses to sign up for industrial space at St Modwen's Watling Street Business Park near Cannock.

The regeneration specialist, which owns and manages the site, has exchanged contracts on two units totalling 12,598 sq ft as demand for industrial space in the region continues to outstrip supply.

Boots has taken 4,133 sq ft on a five-year lease, while Icon Exhibition Ltd has signed up to a three-year lease on a 8,465 sq ft unit, leaving one 4,234 sq ft unit available to let on the site between Cannock and Brownhills.

The new tenants join major firms including logistics operator Pro Freight Solutions Ltd, which took a 48,467 sq ft unit earlier this year, medical gas manufacturer and distributor Medical Gas Solutions, and a number of long-term local and national firms.

Senior development surveyor Jonathan Green said: "These latest lettings at Watling Street represent the growing requirement for high-quality industrial warehouse units in this part of the region.

"Ideally positioned with excellent connectivity to the rest of the UK, the business park continues to answer tenants' needs and is now almost completely occupied."

RAIL passengers have been promised a range of benefits and enhanced services following the signing of a new partnership deal between transport chiefs and train operator London Midland.

A 45-point plan has been agreed by Transport for West Midlands and London Midland to 'build on past successes' and deliver 'further local improvements for customers'.

It includes developing and agreeing a delivery plan for enhanced services on the Chase Line following electrification, working together to fully integrate the Midland Metro at Birmingham New Street, and maximising the opportunities brought by HS2.

Other benefits include working to support the proposed redevelopment of the Wolverhampton station interchange and, elsewhere, identifying suitable sites to expand the park-and-ride scheme at stations.

Crucial

There is also a pledge for greater use of wi-fi for passenger services, improved ticket machines at stations, and enhanced CCTV on trains.

Transport for West Midlands is part of the West Midlands Combined Authority (WMCA). Councillor Roger Lawrence, transport lead for the WMCA, said: "Demand for rail services is as high as it has ever been, so it is crucial we work together to develop and extract the maximum benefits from the network for the passenger."

London Midland managing director Patrick Verwer said: "The improvements we are planning to introduce over the next 15 months are based on what local people have said are important to them."

The agreement continues the work of the Transforming Rail Travel partnership previously signed with London Midland by TfWM predecessor Centro in 2011.

London Midland holds the franchise to operate local rail services in the West Midlands until October 2017, when it may be extended for up to 12 months.

It's now Full Speed Ahead for SaraBeth

THE familiar saying 'Everything is bigger in Texas' comes to mind when describing powerhouse Country vocalist Sarah Elizabeth Swagers – aka SaraBeth – a native of the 'Lone Star State'.

The contemporary country singer/songwriter is making her mark in Nashville and is gaining a huge fanbase thanks to her spirited vocals and energetic live performances.

Audiences in Wolverhampton can see what all the fuss is about next week as she performs with Glenn Mitchell at the Robin 2 in Mount Pleasant, Bilston, on Tuesday, August 9, from 8pm. It is her third consecutive year of visiting the UK and she will headline a 13 city tour.

SaraBeth's current project, the EP Full Speed Ahead was released this month and debuted at number one on iTunes. It features a stellar version of the Backstreet Boys' I Want It That Way. SaraBeth said: "I don't even know what emotions I was feeling but to see my name in the number one slot is absolutely a dream come true."

Meanwhile few British people have enjoyed country music success in the way that Glenn Mitchell has.

Since moving there in 2001, he has toured with many of Nashville's finest musicians and has collected a clutch of achievements, notably best album, best song and the most nominations for the UK Country Radio Awards and has had three number one singles on the ECMA Country chart.

Tickets for the Bilston concert are £10 or £12 on the door. Call 01902 401211.

Comedy vehicle for sharing faith

FUNNYMAN Bobby Ball will let fans in on his Christian faith next month.

Ball, better known for his Cannon & Ball partnership with Tommy Cannon, turned Christian in 1986 at the height of his professional career.

Since 1995, Ball has been using his comedic talents to share his faith at events and churches around the country.

On Saturday, September 10, he will be at Dudley Town Hall, with tickets at £10 for a 7.30pm event.

Jeremy Paxman

The Mystery of Van Gogh's Ear
(BBC2, 9pm)
Jeremy Paxman joins forces with 'art sleuth' Bernadette Murphy in a bid to solve one of the greatest and bloodiest mysteries of the art world – why did Vincent Van Gogh take a blade to his own ear in December, 1888? The pair set out to discover why the Dutch post-impressionist chose to mutilate himself, and also to identify the unknown girl to whom he is reported to have given is severed ear. Their quest takes them from Vincent's former home in the south of France to the Van Gogh Museum in Amsterdam, and along the way, they seek to determine the causes of the painter's mental turmoil. The answers they are looking for, however, might not lie in Europe.

Deborah Meaden (right)

Dragons' Den (BBC2, 9pm)
Evan Davis presents the business ideas contest, as regular panelists Peter Jones, Deborah Meaden, Touker Suleyman, Sarah Willingham and Nick Jenkins assess the profit-making potential of a brand of pork scratchings and a device for folding paper. The entrepreneurs behind a fledgling fashion business also try their luck, but textile tycoon Touker is far from impressed.

6.30 Countryfile. Anita Rani reports from Kerrera, a tiny island in the Scottish Inner Hebrides, close to the town of Oban, which in the last census had a population of just 34. Anita spends a day getting to know the locals, joining postmaster Gill Vollum on her rounds and helping shepherd Sheila McGregor to bring in her sheep. She also talks to Aideen Gallagher and Martin Shields to find out why they quit busy jobs on the mainland to live the island dream.

7.30 Olympics 2016. Day two in Rio continues with the conclusion of the women's cycling road race at Fort Copacabana and the women's rugby sevens quarter-finals at the Deodoro Stadium. Selection this year for the cycling places in Team GB has proven somewhat controversial, but the squad of Lizzie Armitstead, Emma Pooley and Nikki Harris is one of the most experienced ones at the Games, and Armitstead will be hoping to go one better than at London 2012, when she finished second behind Marianne Vos. Only four sides were eliminated at the group stage of the women's rugby, so Great Britain will expect to be involved, but picking a winner of the tournament is difficult, as the sport of rugby returns to the Olympic fold for the first time since 1924. Plus, a round-up of the rest of the day's action, including the women's artistic gymnastics qualifiers.

Tears all round as they meet the parents

Hankies at the ready everyone – there are two more unbearably moving tales heading your way this week.

The first of them focuses on David Smith, who lives in Cambridgeshire with his wife and two children. He's close to his offspring, and says, "I don't think you understand the love of a father until you become a father yourself."

David was raised by his mother and her husband alongside two siblings. However, he didn't bond with the man he thought was his dad, and discovered in his teens, following his mother's divorce, that his biological father was a man called Ken Davis, whom she'd met and fallen in love with. However, following a heated argument, they went their separate ways.

For years, David has longed for a father figure: "I want someone to be proud of me, someone to say, 'this is my son'."

The programme's researchers stepped in to lend him a hand. They discovered that Ken is now married with three more children and living in West Bromwich.

When co-host Nicky Campbell catches up with him, Ken reveals he's always been aware of David's existence and had wanted to be a part of his life, but felt that when his mother married, that he'd be better off as part of their family unit; he's devastated to find that David's childhood wasn't a happy one and regrets his decision.

After seeing a picture of him, Ken agrees to meet his son for the first time – and it's a life-changing moment for both of them that won't leave a dry eye anywhere.

The second story is perhaps even more remarkable. It focuses on Mandy Hearn, who was adopted as a baby and grew up by loving parents. However, she claims she always felt different so, 30 years ago, when she was 18, she decided to investigate in an attempt to understand why her birth mother had given her up – and what she found out shocked her.

Mandy is the offspring of Pamela, who had her when she was just 13 years of age. "She was a child herself," remarks Mandy, who was deeply affected by this revelation. "It's shocking when you see how young she was. She must have been terrified."

Initially, she called off her search, concerned that if Pamela had gone on to have another family, it might be too upsetting for both them and her to disturb their happiness. But now, she feels the need to get to know her better.

Campbell visits Pamela at her home in Co Mayo on ireland's west coast. She reveals that at the time of her pregnancy, she had little support and despite feeling a bond with her daughter, felt she had no choice but to give her up. "I was doing someone a good turn, making family for other people," she explains.

Davina McCall accompanies the women when they come face-to-face in Richmond, not far from where they were last together almost 50 years ago.

"It is a great feeling to know that she's well and she knows that I am okay," says Mandy."

Davina McCall and Nicky Campbell present Long Lost Family, Wednesday, ITV, 9pm

BEST OF THE REST

MONDAY

Brief Encounters
ITV, 9pm
Steph organises an exotic lingerie event at a local nightclub, but things are unlikely to run smoothly. Brian is stunned when Dawn tells him she has asked Russell to model, Steph confronts Pauline and asks why she lied to Johnny, while Barry shows Terry he knows the truth about him and Lisa. On the evening of the show, Pauline approaches Nita and gives her shocking news that leaves all the women astounded. Drama, starring Penelope Wilton and Sophie Rundle. Last in the series.

Naked Attraction
Channel 4, 10pm
If you've missed the first two episodes of this controversial series, it's the show that literally strips the dating process bare. Each week, two singletons get the chance to choose a date from six naked candidates, who are revealed to them one body part at a time. The decisions are made based on pure physical attraction, but will that prove to be a better indicator of compatibility than making small talk in a pub or exchanging text messages? The latest people to put it to the test are Matthew, a 24-year-old mobile sales advisor, and Tracy, who has been out of the dating game for three years.

TUESDAY

First Dates
Channel 4, 10pm
New series. Podiatrist Felicity meets handsome city boy Jethro, who describes himself as 'marmite,' while 24-year-old Irishman Damian believes his Tourette's is the reason he has yet to find the man of his dreams. He goes on a date with part-time model Kai, who is a sucker for an Irish accent. Meanwhile, 79-year-old history student Joe has a poignant and cheeky date with Dee, boat builder Abbey swaps her overalls for a dress in a bid to win the heart of special effects technicians James, and accountant Ajai meets his date Hema.

WEDNESDAY

Inside CERN: A Horizon Special
BBC2, 8pm
The BBC's flagship science programme turns its attention to one of the most extraordinary stories in particle physics. It begins in June 2015, when teams at CERN started running the Large Hadron Collider at the highest energy possible. Before long, rumours began to emerge that they were on the brink of a huge discovery, thanks to a mysterious bump in some data suggesting a first glimpse of a brand new particle. If you're not sure why that's so exciting, it could change our understanding of the universe and also hints at extra dimensions – but there is a possibility that the data bump was caused by noise from the machine. Horizon follows the scientists as they look for the signals that would determine one way or the other whether there really is a new particle.

Brief Encounters, Monday, ITV, 9pm

THURSDAY

The Supervet: Bionic Specials
Channel 4, 8pm
New series. The return of the documentary about a pioneering veterinary practice, delving deeper into the science behind the cutting-edge procedures used by Professor Noel Fitzpatrick and his staff. Noel tries to cure a terrier's limp by performing an elbow replacement – using a 3D-printed hinged joint.

FRIDAY

Amazing Spaces Shed of the Year
Channel 4, 8pm
The 2016 competition arrives at its half-way point, with the turn of the most popular category - Pubs and Entertainment sheds. This fiercely contested group includes an entire Wild West town built out of sheds up in Aberdeen, a faithful replica of a Polish mountain drinking den in rural Ireland, and a nightclub in a Hackney with a truly one-of-a-kind owner. Meanwhile, among the shortlisted sheds in the Workshops and Studios group are a blacksmith's smithy and Star Wars shed.

Friday Night Dinner
Channel 4, 10pm
Unlike most episodes of this laugh-out-loud comedy, Adam (Simon Bird) doesn't just turn up at mum and dad's for dinner tonight – he's already there. The Goodman son has been staying at his parents' place all week, and with Mum (Tamsin Greig) fussing over him so much, he's regressed into behaving like a child – well, even more than usual. But one staple of this comedy is that the family quartet won't actually get the chance to enjoy their dinner, as something or someone is bound to turn up to sabotage it. This week it is neighbour Jim (Mark Heap), who is terrified of his own dog.

Suzuki is 'most improved'

Suzuki GB is delighted to announce that it has been recognised as the 'most improved organisation' in The Institute of Customer Service's annual UK Customer Satisfaction Index (UKCSI) for July 2016.

A national measure of sentiment across the country, the research asks over 10,000 consumers to rate their experiences of dealing with more than 200 different companies across 13 sectors, including brands in the motoring industry.

Compared to the same study in July 2015, Suzuki has since added 9.1 points to give a score of 82.4, which saw the carmaker climb to 27th place overall.

The year-on-year increase in the number of points was greater than any other of the 226 companies classified, and the biggest improvement out of all of the 24 car manufacturers that took part in the study. During the same period, the automotive sector equally saw a 0.6 point-rise in customer satisfaction.

The significant jump in the latest ranking has been assisted by the launch of the nationwide Suzuki Service Promise initiative last summer.

It is designed to ensure that vehicle owners receive a consistently high standard of care across its entire network of Service dealers when they take the car for routine servicing or repair.

Denis Houston, aftersales director at Suzuki GB PLC, said: "We are delighted with the results shown in the Customer Satisfaction Index and this clearly reflects our ongoing investment and the great lengths that Suzuki goes to in order to ensure that every motorist receives the very highest level of service.

"We are extremely pleased that the effort of our dealer network has paid off, and we will continue to strive for even better scores in 2017."

A3 clearly connected to values of real-world

By Ian Donaldson

FORGET the acceleration times or how far the car goes on a gallon, for some potential owners the way their iPhone hooks up is the decider.

Or, as the man from Audi said about the newly update A3 range: "To some younger customers being connected is more important than the car itself."

So, younger customers rejoice! This workover of Audi's biggest selling range brings extra standard kit and the possibility (at extra cost, it's an Audi, remember) of keeping yourself connected like never before.

With four body styles to choose from – three and five-door hatch (Sportback in Audi speak), saloon and cabriolet – and six engines on offer, there ought to be a car to suit most upwardly mobile people in search of a classy set of wheels.

Priced from £19,365, the latest A3 comes with a mild rejig on the outside and more bits inside, including cruise control, auto lights and wipers and a multi-function steering wheel.

You have to move up the range, or pay for extras to appreciate all the new techno upgrades, which can include what Audi calls a digital cockpit; really a high definition screen replacing conventional dials that you can make display the sat nav with cinema screen clarity or let the instruments dominate.

The entry level A3 is a three-door hatch with 1.0 litre petrol engine and SE trim but not many people will be tempted, heading instead to the Sport (+£1,550) and the S line (+£2,150), where bigger alloys, styling tweaks inside and out and LED headlights (and natty rear indicators that flash in a bulb- sweeping action) mark the car out as the range topper.

You'll find satellite navigation on all but the SE but find £995 for a technology pack and you'll add high speed 4G internet access via a SIM card with no date charge, Google Earth and Street View and Twitter.

If you're mobile phone is clever enough you can pop it in the Audi Phone Box between the front seats, where it charges itself without needing to be plugged in and works through the car's own aerial for a better reception.

Oh, and there's 10GB of hard drive memory for every song you've ever bought and need to download to the car. So you'll stay very connected indeed to your life outside your Audi.

Add a driver assistance pack for £1,950 and an auto-geared A3 will slow to a halt and start off again all by itself, maintain a safe distance behind the vehicle ahead at cruising speed and briefly steer the car at speeds up to 37mph.

There are a couple of option boxes you can tick without adding to the price of your car – to delete the badges on the back to keep your engine details to yourself, or to delete the lowered, stiffened suspension that comes with an S line package. Two paint colours cost nothing extra either (solid white or black) although everything else costs £550, or £775 for a crystal effect black.

Alongside a carried over selection of engines there's the first application in the A3 of the Volkswagen Group's feisty 1.0 litre three-cylinder petrol engine and a new 2.0 petrol power unit with 190 horsepower and coupled to a new seven-speed automatic gearbox.

As ever, slipping into the latest A3 reinforces the company's reputation for building cars as well finished as anything near the price; this is a high quality environment in which to spend hours of your life at a stretch.

Choose the popular 2.0 litre diesel and S line trim and you'll have a car that shrugs off the miles, the engine a distant thrum as the suspension stays firmly in contact with the road, doing its best with big alloy wheels and stiffened springs to smooth your path.

Lesser versions with smaller wheels – or an S line on the optional softer suspension – would ride more serenely but lack the positive edge to the steering that makes the A3 feel taut and ... connected.

The trip computer showed 54.9mpg after a brief but spirited drive. Combine that with the way the car is predicted to hang on to its value as the months roll by and this new Audi is clearly connected to real world values.

Kia celebrates 25 years in UK

From white wall tyres and £1 deposits to an industry leading seven year warranty and numerous design awards, Kia Motors (UK) Ltd is celebrating 25 years in the UK. The brand first started trading here in 1991, selling just under 1,800 cars in the UK in that year – a figure that it now sells on average every two weeks across its 188 strong dealer network.

Starting with just one model on sale in 1991 – the Kia Pride – the Kia range now covers nine segments with 12 cars on offer and with three engine types available in the UK – petrol, diesel and electric – this is soon to be expanded with the all-new petrol hybrid Niro going on sale in August.

With UK sales totalling 763,500 from 1991 to today, 44 per cent of the total has been in the last five years, highlighting the dramatic growth that the brand has seen in recent years. Consumers have been attracted to the brand for its styling, quality and reliability as well as that industry-topping seven year warranty.

Commenting on Kia's 25th UK anniversary, Paul Philpott, president and CEO, Kia Motors (UK) Ltd, said: "Kia has been on quite a journey in recent years. Within Kia's time in the UK we have grown from a relatively small importer to challenging the best and most established brands in the industry."

"We have a fantastic, ever growing, range of cars and in 2016 and 2017 we will launch fourteen new and face-lifted cars. Kia are certainly not resting on its laurels for the next 25 years as we expand our sales and dealer network in the UK."

The Picanto – Pride's replacement – was the first car in the A-segment to offer a five-door model, launching a successful and quirky animated advert asking consumers to 'Think about it', something that consumers have taken to heart – the Picanto is the biggest selling Kia in the UK since its introduction in 2004 with over 156,000 sold.

The Sportage, now in its fourth generation, has sold close to 140,000 and is Kia's second best-selling model with 16,000 of those being sold since the new model launch in February.

Although it has been in the UK for just 25 years Kia is still a company of firsts – from the five-door Picanto, through to dancing hamsters advertising for the Soul as well as the first manufacturer to utilise the independent review company Reevoo so that customers can give unedited, uncensored feedback about its models and its dealerships – with over 20,000 reviews, 97 per cent of customers would chose Kia again.

Kia Motors Corporation is considerably older than its UK subsidiary being established in 1944.

Style, ability and comfort in BMW's new 7 Series

On sale now, the sixth generation of the BMW 7 Series is a true flagship of the BMW range, blending comfort, style, dynamic ability and cutting edge technology in equal measure to create an inspiring mode of luxury transport.

To complete the range, the BMW 7 Series has borrowed technology from the BMW i sub-brand to follow in the footsteps of the BMW X5 eDrive40e, BMW 225xe and the BMW 330e to create the new BMW 740e and 740Le xDrive.

The plug-in- hybrid variants of the new BMW 7 Series allow long-distance comfort and luxury to be experienced in combination with all-electric, locally emission-free mobility.

Both models sit within the BMW iPerformance range and have BMW eDrive and the carbon core body structure with which are rooted in know-how from BMW i. The intelligently controlled interaction between the combustion engine and the electric drive, which together generate a total system output of 326hp, endows the BMW 740e and 740 xDrive with strong acceleration while simultaneously realising a substantial reduction in fuel consumption and emissions.

The electric motor is fully integrated into the eight-speed steptronic transmission. This ensures that pure-electric driving, the dynamics-enhancing electric boost function and the recuperation of braking energy can operate efficiently.

Working intelligently together, the combustion engine produces an output of 258hp whilst the electric drive system produces112hp, resulting in a combined system output of 326hp. The immediate response of the accelerator and sustained delivery of dynamic power allow the BMW 740e to accelerate from zero to 62mph in 5.4 seconds and the BMW 740Le xDrive to complete the same sprint in 5.3 seconds.

Extraordinary

The cars' sporty driving characteristics are accompanied by extraordinarily low petrol consumption and emissions. The 740e has a combined fuel consumption of 134.5mpg whilst the 740Le xDrive achieves 117.7mpg. The CO 2 emissions associated with petrol consumption are 49g/km and 54g/km respectively. The efficiency of the BMW eDrive technology developed using know-how from BMW i is proven in the all-electric, locally emission-free driving resulting in a range of 29 miles.

The 740Le xDrive follows in the tyre tracks of the X5 xDrive40e as the brand's second model to distribute its power permanently to all four wheels in pure electric driving. The plug-in hybrid variants of the new 7 Series are also equipped as standard with the newly designed driving experience control switch. At the touch of a button, the driver can activate a vehicle setting that optimises dynamics, comfort or efficiency. The range of characters encompassed by eco, pro, comfort and sport modes are even more clearly defined than with conventionally powered vehicles. Beyond this, the control switch offers the option of selecting adaptive mode. In this setting, the car's responses adapt noticeably to the driver's style and route profile.

The high level of standard specification for the BMW 740e and BMW 740Le xDrive includes LED headlights, the BMW display key, the ConnectedDrive navigation package, smartphone integration with an inductive charging facility for the phone battery, and an iDrive operating system expanded to include a touchscreen function for the control display and the globally unique BMW gesture control feature. Customers can also look forward to auxiliary heating and air conditioning, which allow them to prepare the car's interior temperature in advance.

Tough and hardworker with plenty of comfort

By Ian Donaldson

IN the world of cars everyone's looking to smaller engines. Yes, you've guessed why; they use less fuel, or they ought to.

In the world of light commercial vehicles Volkswagen has decided to do things differently. Its latest Amarok pick-up, due here before the end of the year, has an engine half as big again as the unit in the truck you can buy today.

Out go the current 2.0 litre, four cylinder diesels, with 140 or 180 horsepower and in comes a 3.0 litre powerplant with six cylinders (borrowed from some Audis) and with enough performance to make it the GTI of truckland.

And the reason for this surprising looking move to more cylinders and more ccs?

Buyers of the first Amaroks were happy to pay more for what they saw as a premium product (which it was), but reckoned that should mean more power than was available from a mere 2.0 litres.

Then, by the end of this year the old, smaller engine would need to be expensively upgraded anyway, to meet tougher new Euro 6 pollution limits.

The official fuel consumption test all new vehicles have to take reckons the bigger-engined Amarok will manage 37.2mpg and nip under 200g/km of tailpipe emissions (just, at 199g/km). That is actually a bit thirstier than before but a little less polluting.

Revised

Those are figures for the beefiest of three engines that will eventually power this heavily revised four door load lugger.

This 224 horsepower V6 TDI is coming first and takes the Amarok to 120mph and from zero to 62mph in a spritely 7.9 seconds.

Some time in 2017 the Hanover-built Amarok will be joined by engines with 163 and 204 horsepower and, presumably, still better economy figures and a lower price tag – the precise sizes of which will not be revealed until nearer the launch date. Current prices start at £25,419 and expect a gentle uplift.

VW thinks the new model will sell to the same sort of person, attracted by something that is both technically advanced and tough with a solid helping of comfort thrown in.

Minor changes to the outside include new bumpers and radiator grille and a new emphasis on horizontal lines that make an already wide machine look wider still.

New alloy wheels and a third brake light with LED technology will also help the anorak distinguish the newcomer from the older model. Oh, and new front mud flaps cut the aero drag.

Posh

There are bigger changes inside, where an already car-like feel is reinforced by a new dashboard where we find a touchscreen, radio and navigation, along with standard Bluetooth and the option of CarNet and App Connect systems.

We Brits like our Amaroks pretty posh, so most will have auto gears and be in top trim level with the second most powerful engine.

On the smooth roads around Munich, where the pick-up is being launched to the world's motoring press, the most powerful model pulled like a train and made no more noise than a decently refined car, which it resembled to the tiniest detail inside.

Its simple (or crude in modern car terms) solid rear axle and cart springs only betrayed their lack of sophistication on concrete sections, where they set up a noticeable bobbing motion.

A trip read out of precisely 30mpg seemed respectable – a moderately challenging off road course proved that the Amarok will shrug off anything an owner is likely to throw at his dream machine – but the 7.4mpg recorded on the rough stuff might be incentive enough in itself not to risk a scratch.

Traditional Volvo now even better

By Matt Joy

Perhaps the most indelible image of Volvo is the large estate car, and the new V90 exemplifies it. Based on the same scalable platform as the very successful second-generation XC90, the V90 — and its saloon brother the S90 – is the second model in Volvo's rejuvenation.

The all-new V90 will be coming to the UK with the same 2.0-litre 'D5' diesel as you'll find in the XC90, to be joined by a hybrid-electric petrol 'T8' model later in the year.

There's no getting away from the fact the V90 is an incredibly imposing car on the road. It's rather large, coming in at just under five metres nose to tail and a fraction over two metres across the mirrors, but it's not just the size that gives it serious presence.

The 'Thor's Hammer' headlights and concave grille, along with the redesigned Volvo logo – all of which debuted on the XC90 – generate an overall image that exudes confidence. Opt for the Inscription trim and the grille is chromed too, which adds to the effect.

Cabin space is just as vast as you might expect. Rear legroom is particularly impressive with even a leggy supermodel able to fit in the back without any danger of running out of space. A fifth occupant might not have such a great time, with a fairly broad central tunnel to straddle, but otherwise, there is plenty of space front and rear.

It's a traditionally Volvo-esque boot, too. There's a powered tailgate as standard and it reveals a nicely uniform opening with a low and flush lip. Boot space is 560 litres in standard configuration, with the rear seats folding flat by a single button each in the boot.

A 13 gallon (60 litre) fuel tank gives the 57.6mpg V90 D5 a range of just over 750 miles between fuel stops.

Equipped with the D5, the V90 is quite a brisk beast, with 60mph coming up in just under seven seconds. This is helped along with the 'PowerPulse' feature which is, in essence, an electric supercharger. Using electric power to compress air, it spools the turbocharger up at low engine speeds in low gears to reduce any lag as you'd normally have to wait for exhaust gases to do the job.

Unobtrusive

There isn't a pleasing soundtrack to go with the tech and the performance though, it merely sounds hoarse rather than coarse if you provoke it, and settles down to an unobtrusive hum on cruise, assisted by the eight-speed gearbox.

Set to Dynamic mode, the 1.8-tonne V90 makes for a very capable point-to-point machine, as it will need to be when the 401bhp T8 Twin Engine model arrives later in the year, but while you'll have to be going some before you run out of available grip, it almost feels wrong to do so. Slot it back into Comfort or Eco and the V90 becomes a supreme cruiser, taking everything in its stride. On a gentle 75mph lope down a Spanish autopista, we recorded interior sound at under 70dB, so it'll be easy to maintain conversation.

It wouldn't be a Volvo if it wasn't filled with safety kit, and the V90 meets targets here. As standard, the V90 packs in city safety, pedestrian and large animal detection, adaptive cruise control and a run-off-road prevention system that detects the offside of the road and keeps you from crossing it inadvertently.

Volvo also fits pilot assist as standard, which allows the car to maintain its speed and lane positioning at up to 80mph, decelerating down automatically as appropriate to traffic conditions – even to rest. Navigation, an 8-inch TFT screen, two-zone climate control, DAB radio, heated front seats and LED headlights are all standard kit, as is the power tailgate.

The V90 range starts at £34,555 for the D4-engined Momentum model, rising to £44,055 for the D5 PowerPulse Inscription we tested. It's broadly comparable to what Volvo terms its German rivals, but noses ahead on equipment levels.

It's an ideal vehicle for the family, with two older kids, plenty of luggage and a couple of large dogs. Volvo has always been inextricably linked with the big estate car and it more than meets expectations here too.

More noticeably, the UK's police forces will probably be up for getting a few on their fleets as well.

TRANTER
Joan
Mom, Nan, Great-Nan, and Aunty.
You left this world so quickly we still wonder why.
For the saddest part of all you never said goodbye.
You left us so many memories to us you were so dear.
No matter when we needed you we always found you near.
You gave us all you had to give gifts both big and small.
But most of all you gave us love the greatest gift of all.
God bless Mom.
Reunited with Dad.
Love from all the Families.

Success for 3 Hammers is par for the course

THE 3 HAMMERS Golf Complex academy director Rob Bluck is in high spirits after two successful events at the course.

The second national Street Golf Championship and the Wolverhampton Tri-Golf final were both held at the par-three venue on Old Stafford Road, Coven, with youngsters of all abilities getting involved.

First to take place was the Street Golf, with teams from community golf programmes across 16 Premier League and Championship football clubs, including Villa and Stoke, bearing their teams' strips and competing for the crown.

The competition was organised by the Golf Foundation, in partnership with Premier League 4 Sport, Sport England and Get into Golf.

Adapted

The final was aimed at junior competitors, with teams of four playing adapted formats of golf such as 'Super Sixes' and 'Flag Golf' in the morning and afternoon.

Cardiff City, who won the inaugural trophy in 2015, were victorious once again and the youngsters who took part were also treated to a trick shot display by Kevin Carpenter on the driving range.

"We held the grand final for the second year running and it was a fantastic event," said Bluck. "Fortunately, the rain managed to hold off throughout the day.

"We were initially supposed to start at 10am but we had to put it back for half an hour. But after that it all ran smoothly until we finished at 4pm, and then the rain started pouring down.

SPORTING FEATURE

By Joe Edwards

"A young girl called Georgia Smith, from Oxfordshire, managed to get a hole in one in front of the Sky cameras."

"A young girl called Georgia Smith, from Oxfordshire, managed to get a hole in one in front of the Sky cameras, as they were down here as well, so that tuned out really well.

"Kevin Carpenter did a trick shot show, which was awesome and everyone really enjoyed it.

"All in all, it was a massive success."

On the following day, 60 young golfers from schools across the Black Country descended on the 3 Hammers course for the Tri-Golf final.

Involved were six primary schools – St Stephen's, Claregate, St Andrew's, St Michael's, The Royal and Stow Heath – with each having won a qualifying event to get to the final.

From each school there were 10 children – five boys, five girls – aged six-to-nine taking part in a series of challenges on the complex's 10,000 sq ft artificial practice and putting area. Playing with soft clubs and balls, they competed to win certificates, medals and trophies but before that, were given time to practice with some PGA golf professionals.

St Stephen's Church of England Primary School were the winners and will soon head to the Staffordshire School Games county final.

Bluck was equally as thrilled with how the event went, and said: "We had 60 kids here from all across Wolverhampton.

"It was kids who have given golf a go in their schools so it was nice to have them down here and experience playing on the course.

Weather

"It was St Stephen's who won it, the weather tried its best to ruin it again but it all went well. Tri-Golf festivals are played with a soft club and ball but being as they were down here, we got them on the driving range with a proper club and ball and they enjoyed it.

"We have got a number of kids now who have shown an interest in carrying on with golf and coming along to our sessions down here as well."

The 3 Hammers Golf Complex recently won the Golf Foundation's national Critchley Community Award for getting juniors into the sport.

Bluck believes the Street Golf and the Tri-Golf events were a great way to top off a fantastic few months for 3 Hammers.

"We have just won the award for our work with juniors so these events summed up what we are all about. It was the icing on the cake," he added.

Triathlete in debut season honours bid

A CHASE Swimming Club member will join the junior top flight in a battle for honours at the national championships in Glasgow next month.

In his first full season of competition, 12-year-old rookie triathlete Christian Roe has captured one of only three places in the West Midlands 11/12 boys' team to compete in the Tri Star 2 event at British Triathlon's Inter-Regional Championships.

The finals attract the best performers from a dozen regions and will involve a 200m swim and cycle race of up to 10k, culminating in an 1,800m run. Last year's winner clinched the title for the North East in 21.16 minutes.

Roe currently leads the West Midlands TS2 triathlon series, having forged a one minute gap ahead of his nearest challenger across four competitions. But to earn selection for the trip to Scotland in September, the Cannock and Stafford Athletics Club member had to feature among the first three West Midlands under-12s to cross the tape at the Windsor Triathlon in Berkshire.

"This is my first proper season of triathlon, as last year I just tried it out in a few events. I have been getting better and better," he said. "I'm really excited to be going to Glasgow but it will be very tough."

The youngster was a gold medalist at the Independent Schools' Association national triathlon championships in May. He trains five times a week with Chase Swimming Club and specialises in 1500m and cross country. He is also a member of Stafford Tri Club and attends Stafford Grammar School.

"My best event is probably swimming as I do most training in that. Cycling is the one thing I don't do at a club. I just practise out on the roads and go mountain biking with my dad."

The big kick off as Hayes set off on FA Cup glory trail

HEATH Hayes begin the new season with an FA Cup extra Preliminary Round fixture this weekend. Hayes entertain Bromsgrove Sporting in an attractive looking tie.

The former Conference side have invested heavily in new players over the summer as they attempt to climb up the non-league pyramid after narrowly missing out for the past two seasons.

Simon Davies' side have been unbeaten in pre season friendlies, including creditable draws with Hednesford and Rushall, and the manager is upbeat about his side's prospects.

"The lads have worked exceedingly hard in training and competition for places will be keener than ever.

"It's unfortunate that the timing of the first game means that we will be without six or possibly seven players who would probably have started the game but it gives others a golden opportunity to stake a claim for a regular place."

The league action starts on August 13 with a home game against Heather St John with a visit to Atherstone Town the following Wednesday.

Wyrley strengthens to 64 teams

Wyrley Juniors Panthers under-11s girls

ONE of the region's biggest football clubs is continuing to go from strength to strength and will next season boast 64 teams.

Wyrley Juniors caters for five adult men's teams and three ladies' sides, while at junior level, the club will be represented by 14 girls' and 39 boys' teams. A walking football outfit and two disabled sides complete the set.

There is also an academy for four to seven-year-olds, based at Cheslyn Hay Leisure Centre on Saturday mornings, a girls-only academy for five to nine-year-olds on Tuesday evenings at Long Lane, Essington, and a goalkeeper centre every Wednesday at Cheslyn Hay. Chairman Keith Hardy said: "There's 100 or more people at this club that are working hard, giving up their time for free to coach their teams and get people involved."

Football

Wyrley Juniors Panthers under-11s girls recently won the ESF Grand Final at St George's Park. The team has collected 14 trophies in the last two years.

Wyrley Panther Juniors under-14s boys have received £500 from Asda's Community Life Project ahead of their first 11-a-side season.

GOLF TALENT OFF TO A TEE

A TALENTED teenage golfer is chasing her American Dream after landing another England call-up.

Morgan Thomas, from Burntwood, has earned a place in the English Schools Golf Association side for a clash with Scotland in September.

The Beau Desert member has been a regular in the England Under-16 squad since she was 11 and hopes to secure a place in the Under-18s.

The England call adds to Morgan's already impressive CV that includes appearances in the Women's Open Amateur Matchplay Championship and numerous titles.

But the 15-year-old Chase Terrace Technology College student, who plays off a handicap of three, also has her sights set across the Atlantic.

A golf scholarship at an American College is the aim as she combines her schooling with a hectic schedule. "She has worked really hard at her game because she wants to get into the full England Under-18 team," said proud dad Gary.

"She had some good results last year and she has started this year off really well.

"She has been in the England Under-16 squad since she was 11, but the Under-18s goes up another level, you get different funding and play around the world. Ultimately she wants to get a golf scholarship with a college in America.

"Next year she will have to wind her programme down because she takes her GCSEs.

"It's important for us as parents that she does well at school, and the school have been really supportive as well."

Gary added: "I used to take her up the golf club when she was very young. The club used to put sessions on for kids with little plastic clubs. She was about five or six and things just followed on from that. But she doesn't get the golfing genes from me."

Michael Beaumont, who is based at Beau Desert, provides the coaching expertise while former Solheim Cup captain Alison Nicholas has also worked with Morgan.

Junior organiser Tony Brown said of the youngster, who also plays for Staffordshire: "The club is really proud of Morgan. A massive amount of credit must go to her for everything she has achieved."

Twins encounter another torrid time

HEDNESFORD'S Wigley twins endured another torrid weekend in the British Superstock 600 Championship as both crashed out around the superfast Thruxton circuit.

The 20-year-olds were left to catch up as budget constraints forced them to use older tyres, which hampered them throughout. Kurt enjoyed the better weekend, placing his bike on third row after posting some decent times before the tyres gave way, while Matt ended another disappointing weekend being taken out by a fellow rider on the opening lap for the third race on the trot.

Kurt said: "We had a tough weekend.

"We were using the tyres from Snetterton for Q1 but they just got torn to bits. It ended up with me 12th and Matt 21st."

"Matt has to wait for the swelling to go down on his arm to see if he's got a fracture but he's hoping to be fit next race."

The result left Kurt ninth and Matt 18th in the championship, which moves on to Brands Hatch this weekend.

Big-hitting keeps side in title race

CANNOCK are still in with a shout of lifting the Staffs Clubs Championship Premier Division – with that man Brian Barnard in fine form again.

The big-hitting South African bludgeoned 94 runs to help Cannock to a total of 258 against Whittington.

Matt Robinson claimed four wickets as Cannock's opponents fell 177 runs short in their reply.

Skipper Will Fleet has urged his teammates to carry on putting the pressure on the rest of the sides.

He said: "The main thing we have got to do is keep up putting out good performances and getting results so we are there if the other two slip up."

Beacon skipper Matthew Tonks, however, reckons his side's the clash with leaders Milford Hall at the end of the month is likely to be the decider.

Tonks led his side to a three-wicket win at home over Swindon to keep them six points behind in second.

Beacon bowled Swindon all out for 128 after 41.4 overs, Despite an onslaught from Abid Khan, who claimed four wickets, they managed to chase down the target.

"We did make slightly hard work of it but Abid bowled extremely well," said Tonks. "I'm chuffed with the lads, you can't ask for much more but we are just up against another exceptional team for the title in Milford Hall.

"In any other season, ours and Milford's points total would probably be enough to put you 30-40 points clear.

"We can't really do anything else. All we can do is try and win every game we have but it's probably going to go down to the Milford game."

Milford remained top of the pile with an emphatic victory over Aldridge, skittling their opponents out for 62 after knocking up 320-3, with Chris Becker and Haydn Slodecki both scoring centuries – 134 runs and 112 runs respectively.

Cannock are at Swindon this weekend, while Milford Hall play Wednesbury and Beacon go to Penn.
